Sunday was a beautiful day ... far too nice to stay indoors. Your editor took advantage of the sunshine to get out a deck chair and look up at the blue sky. What she saw was this maple tree, just beginning to bud.

1980 Property taxes much higher

A lot of people in the Quinte area ... and in the rest of Ontario for that matter ... are going to get a real jolt when they get their property tax notices for 1980.

County Councils in Quinte have set their 1980 budgets and, as expected, rising costs and inflation are mirrored in the rising costs of running a municipality.

Hastings County levy is up 16.7% over last year; Prince Edward county 19%, and Lennox and Addington about 25%.

That's bad enough, but some municipalities which were paying less than their fair share of taxes in past years will now have to ante up a larger share, as a result of the new assessment equalization factors introduced by the Ontario Ministry of Revenue last summer.

The new factors, which are province wide, are based on 1978 market values for properties.

Equalization factors had been frozen since 1970, at assessments in effect at that time. In some municipalities, reassessments had been done on a market value basis by that time, and those municipalities have been paying more than their share of county taxes and school board levies.

But, in many municipalities, property was assessed at much lower than 1970 market values.

Those municipalities which had not been brought up to market values by 1970, are the ones which will feel the extra pinch now.

In Prince Edward County, three of the ten municipalities had been reassessed ... Ameliasburgh, Sophiasburgh and Picton. Napanee, in Lennox and Addington had been also, as had Belleville in Hastings County, but Deseronto had not.

To help offset the big tax jump foreseen for 1980 in those municipalities which had been underassessed, the Provincial Government put restraints on the percentage amount of increase any municipality would have to pay in 1980, but there is now guarantee the restraints will stay on for subsequent years.

To show how it works for a municipality that has been underassessed in previous years, take a look at Deseronto.

The Hastings County levy on Deseronto in 1979 (for general purposes and roads) was $41,967. For 1980, it has been set at $53,642 ... an increase of 27.8%.

Some of that increase is due to the fact that the whole county levy is up from $1,528,966 last year to $1,784,230 this year (an increase of 16.7%).

The rest of it is due to the fact that Deseronto has paid less than its fair share previously and now has to pick some of that difference up.

'If the restraints on increases had not been in effect and we had to pay our full share based on equalized assessment, I figure Deseronto would have had to pay an additional $10,000 to the county this year,' said Carman Milligan, Deseronto clerk-treasurer. 'And there may be no restraints on increases next year.'

AND WHAT ABOUT SCHOOL TAXES??

The county levies are not the only sad news for taxpayers. School tax levies have not yet been set, but it is usual for school taxes to cost more than the county levies.

The school boards have not been able to set their budgets yet as they have not been informed by the Provincial Government as to the amounts of provincial grants they will be getting.

But, if school taxes do go up by the same percentage as county levies (27.5% for Deseronto), Deseronto taxpayers could be faced with a big jump in taxes this year ... and that's with government restraints in effect!

County and school tax levies last year accounted for 31% of the total budget for the Town of Deseronto.

'An increase of 25% in school levies over last year, would mean an additional $35,000 for Deseronto to pay', Mr. Milligan said. 'Coupled with the $12,000 additional levy for county purposes, that would be a total of $47,000. That would mean about a 15% increase in the total mill rate for residential properties for those two levies alone.'

Does Hastings need methanol plant?

The proposal to establish a pilot plant in Hastings County for the production of methanol has raised some controversy.

Among the questions are: can methanol be blended with gasoline (gasohol) and used in today's automobile engines? ... how many jobs would such a pilot plant create? ... how expensive would the finished product be?

Some of the pros and cons are contained on page 4, in letters to the editor sent by Clarke T. Rollins, MPP for Hastings-Peterborough, and Ian Connerty of Madoc, who was the author of a major study of methanol potential commissioned by Dr. Stuart Smith, the Leader of the Opposition in Ontario.

Feathered winter 'tourists' surveyed

By TERRY SPRAGUE

The Long Point Bird Observatory in Lake Erie is a long way from the Quinte area, but its program reaches all four corners of Ontario.

Three of its projects are presently under way in Prince Edward County, and Sheila Gribble of RR 2, Picton, has been a participant in one of these for at least two years.

The Bird Feeder Survey is an attempt to monitor bird patronage at Ontario feeding stations between November and April and determine fluctuation trends. Special forms are provided and the participant records all bird activity at the feeders during a two-day period every second week. Later in the year, all those taking part receive a summary of the survey.

Another study, the Ontario Heronry Inventory, is a joint project of the Long Point Bird Observatory, Ministry of Natural Resources and the Canadian Wildlife Service. Last year, the Ministry and the Wildlife Service supported the project from April until August, enabling a project biologist and an assistant to supervise the study.

PRINCE EDWARD HERONS

Observers in Prince Edward County recorded the activities at four heronries, all of these comprising the Great Blue heron species.

Heronry Inventory project biologist, Joanne Siderius, said 1979 was a productive and interesting second year for the Ontario survey. One hundred and sixty-six new colonies were discovered in the province, bringing the total to 594. Of these, 544 were great blue heron colonies, seven cattle egret colonies, six great egret, and 28 black-crowned night heron colonies.

Interesting, she reported, was that the size of the great blue heron colonies on the Canadian Shield was approximately one-third the size of those colonies located south of the Shield, but

LET'S BAN PUBLIC OPINION POLLS DURING AN ELECTION

Should public opinion polls be banned during an election?

NDP's George Samis, MPP for Cornwall, thinks they should and reintroduced his Private Member's Bill in the Ontario Legislature last week.

His Bill would not ban the publication of a poll on issues during a campaign, but it would ban the publication of polls based on the outcome of the election or the standing of any leader, candidate or party in the election.

'The Quebec and British Columbia Legislatures have banned the publication of polls during an election and I am now convinced than ever that Ontario should do the same,' Mr. Samis said.

We agree with him

As he points out, there are now so many polls being published that they tend to distract and confuse the voters and detract from what elections are supposed to be about, namely the issues and the merits of the respective parties, leaders and candidates.

The mania for polls has become so omnipresent that we now have television stations, newspapers, radio stations, high schools, colleges, political science departments in universities joining in with their own polls, and there are virtually no guarantees for the public on the professionalism, the competence, the methodology and the sampling of the pollsters.

There is no real registration process and there are no controls over how the polls are released or explained to either the media or the public.

If the polls didn't have any effect on the way people finally vote, it might not matter. But we believe they do have an effect.

When people sit down in front of their TV's and hear their familiar newscaster telling them that such and such a party is a sure bet to win....the polls show it....they don't ask whether the poll results he is giving them are based on reliable data or not ... but they believe him. And at least some of them will shrug and say, 'There's no sense of my voting, I'll just lose my vote', or 'I guess my party is a shoe-in, I won't bother to go out and vote.'

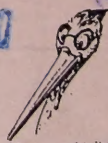

'Elections should focus on the issues, the candidates, the parties and their leaders, not on who is going to win or who looks like a winner,' Mr. Samis said.

And we say 'Amen' to that. Let's ban those polls during elections.

Since walking is definitely the cheapest form of transportation, these truly are times that try men's soles.

recon he figured there were proof positive that the educational system were going right to hell in a handcar.

Anyways, you couldn't leave a comment like that alone, now could you. Sounds like a real interesting game. So Elma asks how you set about playing it.

'Well,' says the little lass, 'there was a whole bunch of us inside doing crazy things, and a whole bunch outside that we was trying to get to come in.'

Well, that didn't get her much further. Anyways, to make a long story short, after some real crafty questioning so as not to put the kid on her guard, Elma finds out what them kids were really playing at school.

Talk about a let down, it weren't no whore house game at all, it were horror house!

Sure were a nice weekend, weren't it. The first real warm days always feel so good with the sun shining on your skin and all. Times like last Sunday I can understand why the folks in the old times worshipped the sun. Reckon we come closer to it than most folks would like to admit.

Anyways, I heard a good story from Elma the other day. She ain't spending quite so much time down cellar nowadays, sort of between sprouting and transplanting I reckon, so she's getting out a bit more.

The other day, she offered to keep an eye on one of our neighbours kids after school, one day when her mother had to go somewhere. So this little lass got off the school bus at our place. Now, I weren't in on the conversation, but I can picture it real plain.

Elma took her into the kitchen for some milk and cookies, and they gets to talking. Now what do you talk to a six year old about? What all they done at school of course. So Elma says to the little un, 'What did you do at school today?'

I wish I could of seen her face when she heard the answer. Calm as you please the kid said 'We played whore house.' Now my Elma ain't got the best opinion of what they're teaching in the schools nowadays, and I

Not much traffic but plenty of hazards in early driving days

By MARIE FOSTER

My first memory of a car was looking with great interest at a Ford parked in front of the former Solmesville Church.

It belonged to a neighbour who was attending service there. Probably my interest included the hope for an invitation to have a ride in it.

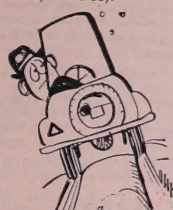

A gentleman who had several large trees near his garage found he had real ability steering when he successfully wove in and out among them after pressing the accelerator instead of the brake.

When this incident caused him to give up driving, my Dad suggested, "Anyone who can steer that well should have no trouble driving."

It was a very important day at Fosters when Dad decided to buy a car, and an exciting one when he took his first lesson.

Sitting in the driver's seat, the instructor beside him, Dad was ready to "drive it or smash the thing."

Everything went tamely enough until Dad gave the car more gasoline to go up a small hill. The old Overland quickly sprang into life, dashed up the grade, headed down a driveway to the bay.

Quick as a flash, the instructor grabbed the wheel. Up the bank they went, rounding a nearby telephone pole on their course back to the road.

One time Dad had parked the car too close to a post. To gain enough room to miss it he backed, but not quite far enough, for the car grazed the post. Dad backed up again, but again hit the offending obstacle.

That was just too much. Dad pushed back from the wheel, folded his arms across his lap, and the passengers heard him say, "Fool, fool!"

BACKING UP...A PUZZLE

When it came my turn to drive, it was always a puzzle to me how to get the back end of the car to go where it should when backing up.

Fortunately for me, it did not matter for each school morning to go to Woodrows, if the car turned one way, I proceeded to Main Street, if the other, to one leading to Talbot.

After I had been driving some time, Dad said, "Marie, if you're ever going to drive that car alone it's time you started."

Thus goaded, one morning the Oldsmobile and I started for Woodrows. All went well until I reached my boarding place where my telephone call home would put their minds at rest.

There was a fairly steep driveway with a sharp turn at the entrance. I pressed the accelerator, made the turn, shot up the driveway, stalling just in time to miss a fine old tree.

Then my folks received the awaited phone call before the teacher walked to the nearby schoolhouse.

Oh those sky-high taxes

And, just a note to property taxpayers in Deseronto...that tax installment you just paid was based on one-third of your 1979 tax. In your next two installments due July 1, and October 1, you'll have to make up the difference between one-third of last year's and one-third of this year's taxes.

"The reason for the county's escalating costs is mainly in areas outside the control of County Council," said Deseronto's Reeve, B. Johnston, who is a member of the financial committee of Hastings County Council.

He pointed out that things like children's services, general health plans were areas where service had to be provided by Provincial law and the county had to pay a certain percentage of the cost.

"Of considerable concern to the financial committee of county council was the budget of Family and Children's Services. In 1978, the county's net share of this service was $43,683. This year we were told that the county's share will be $95,000, an increase of nearly 120% in two years."

PROPOSAL FOR METHANOL PILOT PLANT IN HASTINGS SHOULD BE SHELVED: MPP ROLLINS

Dear Editor:

A petition has been put forth to the County of Hastings to request the Federal and Provincial governments to build a pilot plant for the production of methanol in Hastings County.

This proposal was first raised during the last federal election campaign by the Liberal Party of Ontario. As I am first and foremost determined to do everything within my powers to see that the people in the riding of Hastings-Peterborough are given the best government possible for their benefit, I have made an unpredjudiced assessment of this project. I have the following points to bring to your attention.

The production of methanol from the use of waste material has already been tried in other parts of the world and it has been found that only one part in ten can be added to gasoline to make a car function - with some adjustments required to the presently used motors. The cost of production of one gallon of methanol, today, is somewhere between $6 and $7 a gallon.

Calculations already made tell us that it requires two barrels of crude oil to produce one barrel of methanol. At this time we are able to buy pure gasoline for much less and it will be a while before we must pay $6 to $7 per gallon for that fuel.

When we narrow down to the Hastings-Peterborough area, my investigations reveal that there would not be enough raw material to sustain a plant of this kind. It is essential to use hardwood waste, not pines, and that the replacement of this sort of tree should be rapid. Hybrid poplar is considered to be the proper wood. The more valuable species of hardwood, such as birch and maple would cost too much as they bring large prices from furniture, hardwood flooring companies, etc. Also, they take many years to reach maturity.

Large areas of forest in the district are located on very thin soils, interspersed with rock. These soils support low cordages per acre, are very difficult and expensive to regenerate after cutting and are costly to harvest due to the low cordage and rocky terrain. It would be necessary to bring in 'waste material' from other regions if the plant is to be kept operating. One result would be hard on the tourist industry due to the loss of wildlife habitat and beauty destruction of the natural beauty of the land.

If all the available hardwood waste was to be used, there would be a very real shortage of firewood to be used for heating houses. Also, the price of this firewood would rise beyond the pocketbook of the lower income group.

Employment possibilities:

Would we be able to provide a lot of jobs? The answer, as far as I can determine is no. For example, one large pulp company in Ontario now harvests approximately 20,000 cords using the total tree chip harvesting system and does this with only nine men - which includes truck drivers - who may not live in the district.

In light of this present knowledge I feel that some other means of increasing employment opportunities for our particular district should be considered. We can't afford to ask any government to provide the necessary funds and not get the maximum benefit for the most people.

I think this entire problem should be shelved at this time

ROLLINS' COMMENTS UNFORTUNATE, MISLEADING, AUTHOR OF LIBERAL STUDY SAYS

Dear Editor:

The recent comments by Clarke Rollins about methanol are both unfortunate and misleading. As the author of a major study of methanol potential commissioned by Dr. Stuart Smith, the Leader of the Opposition in Ontario, I feel Mr. Rollins has either been badly informed or is being misleading on purpose.

Although Mr. Rollins claims he first heard about methanol during last month's federal election, the study for Stuart Smith follows a major five volume study by the Davis government which was published two years ago.

Last fall, Julian Reed, the Opposition Energy critic asked the Ontario government to take another look at methanol in an emergency debate on energy in the Legislature. The government responded by ordering a review of methanol potential in Ontario.

Had Mr. Rollins read his government's report on methanol or had he been in the Legislative Assembly during the energy debate he would have learned about methanol before the election.

Mr. Rollins claims that methanol has been used elsewhere in the world and discarded. On the contrary, both Sweden and Germany are involved with a major methanol development programme to replace the use of oil in this decade.

Mr. Rollins claims that methanol can only be used as a 10% blend with 90% gasoline in today's automobile engines after adjustments are required. The fact is that no adjustments are required. In May 1979 General Motors removed doubts about the corrosive effects of alcohol fuel blends by announcing that warranties on cars using 'gasohol' would be fully honoured. Both Chrysler and Ford have since followed this lead.

Mr. Rollins claims the production cost of one gallon of methanol is over $6. Industrial methanol is currently available at 75 cents per gallon, using petroleum as a feedstock. Using waste wood or garbage to make methanol could reduce this cost.

Mr. Rollins claims Methanol production requires hardwoods now used for furniture and flooring. This is not true. In fact, methanol would be made from the huge amounts of waste left in the forest after lumber companies get the best hardwood. Getting this waste wood out of the forests with a cash market would leave Ontario's forests in proper shape for reforestation for the first time in our history. The regeneration cycle of hardwoods needed by the lumber industry could then be reduced from 50 to 150 years to 10-40 years.

Mr. Rollins does not want a plant in Hastings County. His but we can reconsider it later if circumstances change - at that time we would, no doubt have more success in getting the required funding.

Clarke T. Rollins, MPP, Hastings-Peterborough

own government on the other hand identified Bancroft and district as a prime area that could support a methanol plant from existing forest wastes.

He further claims that use of this waste for methanol would cut into the fuel-wood requirements in the region. Over one million households, all using wood heat, must be built in Hastings County before this becomes a problem.

Mr. Rollins cites only nine jobs being created by a pulp wood operation, yet a study by economists in his government estimates 1,000 jobs being created by each methanol plant.

Hon. Robert Welch, Ontario's Energy Minister has praised the initiative of Dr. Smith in commissioning a study of methanol (Belleville, Intelligence, February 13, 1980) and Hon. Keith Norton, Minister of Community and Social Services said he supported methanol production (Kingston Whig Standard, January 17, 1980). The Speech from the throne by the Davis government announced a methanol pilot plant for Edwardsburg Township in Eastern Ontario (Toronto Star, March 12, 1980). The Hon. Ray Hnatyshyn, former Energy Minister in Joe Clark's Conservative government was favourable to a resolution by Frontenac County council asking for a methanol pilot plant. (Kingston Whig Standard, December 26, 1979).

Mr. Rollins is clearly out of step with his own party and his own government in his single-minded and uninformed objections to methanol. Surely the voters of Hastings-Peterborough must question his ability to properly serve them when he refuses to learn the facts before he opposes a plan to create much needed jobs.

In addition, residents of Hastings-Peterborough should ask why a successful fuel oil dealer, like Mr. Rollins, goes out of his way to oppose an alternative energy plan which would help to relieve the burden of increasing costs for imported oil.

When the Beeton Pee Wees took the fifth and final game from Deseronto Legion Pee Wees in the All-Ontario 'C' semi-finals, they went on to battle it out with the Parkhill Pee Wees.

Parkhill took three straight games, beating out the Beeton team.

AGAINST DEER HUNT

Ninety-two per cent of the 82 farmers who replied to a questionnaire sent out by the Prince Edward Federation of Agriculture were opposed to an open deer hunting season in the county.

With opposition like that, let's hope no one tries to get a hunting season going.

The meeting was held at the home of Jane Hough and the 4-H girls are sponsored by the Association. Crepes and Saucy Franks were prepared by the girls, and along with tea and coffee, were served to the members of the Association. The lunch was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The Country Cookers will join other 4-H clubs in the area when they take part in 4-H Achievement Night in April in Napanee. Brighton welcomes ducks with 'waterfowl weekend'

When the ducks stop off at Presqu'ile Provincial Park this spring, they'll have more than the usual welcome. That's because the fifth annual Presqu'ile Park Waterfowl Viewing Weekend will be more than that this year.

The community of Brighton, right next to the park, is joining the festivities, turning the weekend into the first Brighton Waterfowl Weekend and Sports Show, April 12 and 13.

The Brighton Lions Club is organizing a sports show in the Brighton arena to coincide with the viewing activities at the park.

There will also be retriever dog trials, decoy carvers, and other demonstrations and activities both in the town and at the park.

Ministry of Natural Resources biologists and naturalists each year help persons identify the various species of ducks through their plumage, their shape and their habits.

Viewing towers and telescopes are set up during the weekend for visitors to use.

Jerry Cox, superintendent of Presqu'ile Park, and also an active member of the local Lions Club, says the weekend is aimed at being entertaining as well as educational.

Demonstrations will show persons how a duck's sex is determined, how naturalists band ducks, and where their migratory habits take them.

Presqu'ile is perhaps the best place in North America for viewing ducks in the spring because it has habitat for both diving duck and puddle duck species, and it is located in the area the migrator flyways cross as ducks head for their summer nesting grounds.

LIBRARY NOTES

Please note that the library will be closed on April 4, Good Friday and April 7, Easter Monday. The library staff wishes you all a happy and safe holiday.

If you cannot find what you're after at the library, please ask the staff. With the new shelving things have been moving around. Our thanks to Wintario for the shelving grant.

For the kids there are some amusing titles: Disney's 'The Shaggy Dog', Burgess 'Peter Cottontail' plus 'Peter Hatches an Egg', and Charles M. Schultz's 'It's Hard Work Being Bitter'.

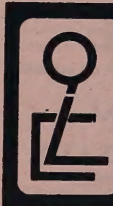

Don't forget the Norma Edwards performance on April 11. Look for the posters around town advertising the event.

The Con Man

Al was a con man. He robbed red robes from homes. Then he conned cones from cops. When he saw a fat tramp, he said, "I will con that tramp." The fat tramp was going to his home to get his red robe. Al hopped the gate and came to the fat tramp. "Do you want a red robe, fat man?" Al asked. The fat tramp saw his robe. "I will take that robe if it fits me." He put the robe on and went into his home. "You have just been conned, con man," said the tramp.

CELEBRATE THIS EASTER WITH A FESTIVE BREAD

The origin of Easter dates back to pre-Christian times when festivals were held to celebrate the arrival of spring and the end of winter.

The English word 'Easter' is derived from 'Eostre', the Saxon goddess of Spring, who opened the gates of Valhalla for Baldur, the sun god who brought light to mankind. The festival to Eostre was celebrated at the festival of equinox, March 21. It is this date as well that fixes the Sunday upon which Easter is celebrated.

There are many traditions associated with Easter. Throughout pre-Christian societies, the egg had profound significance. Many cultures held the belief that the universe originated from the eggs.

Dyeing eggs was unknown in Europe prior to the Middle Ages although eggs were an important part of the feast. It was common practice among the Egyptians, Persians, Phoenicians, Greeks and Romans to dye eggs for the Spring festivals.

Cooks everywhere seem to share the instinct to celebrate the arrival of Spring by turning out special yeast confections - England's Hot Cross buns, Denmark's Easter Duck, Russian Kulich and Pashka, Greek Chokrek and Babka from Poland and Czechoslovakia and this Easter Egg Bread from the mountains of Italy and Switzerland.

The Easter Egg Bread is filled with raisins and almonds and then shaped into a wreath. It is simple, attractive and the coloured eggs nesting in the bread add the final festive touch. Make it a part of your Easter celebrations.

ITALIAN EASTER BREAD

1/2 cup warm water
1 teaspoon sugar
1 package or 1 tablespoon Fleischmann's fast rising active dry yeast
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons margarine or butter
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs (beaten)
2 and 3/4 to 3 and 1/4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour

1/2 cup mixed candied fruits or raisins
1/4 cup blanched almonds
1/2 teaspoon anise seeds melted margarine or butter
5 coloured raw eggs

FROSTING

1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
coloured sprinkles

Measure 1/2 cup warm water into a large bowl. Stir in 1 teaspoon sugar and active dry yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, then stir well.

Meantime, combine milk and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquid is warm and margarine melts. Stir in 1/4 cup sugar and salt. Add liquid to dissolved yeast.

Add eggs and 1 and 1/4 cups flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in an additional 1 and 3/4 cups (about) flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Knead in fruits, blanched almonds and anise seeds.

Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Divide in half. Roll each piece of dough into 24-inch rope. Twist ropes together loosely and form into a ring on a greased baking sheet. Brush with melted margarine.

Place coloured raw eggs into spaces in the twist. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 to 35 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheet and cool on wire rack.

Frosting: Combine frosting ingredients. When bread is cool, carefully drizzle frosting over twist and between eggs. Decorate with coloured sprinkles.

Bread may be frozen and decorated after defrosting.

colonies were more numerous on the Shield.

The survey last year was a pilot census and was conducted in order to develop census techniques for use by volunteers in a more complete census planned for this summer.

Heronries in Prince Edward County being studied are located at Woodville, Mountain View, Albany and East Lake. The survey involved making at least one visit to each colony in late May to establish the number of active nests.

Included in the survey this summer in Prince Edward County will be a detailed aerial study of the colonies in an effort to determine size of the colonies in relation to the size of the swamps they occupy.

A project started by the Observatory in 1977 is under active participation in Prince Edward County too. Known as the Great Lakes Beached Bird Survey, co-ordinator Anne Lambert explains the purpose of this project is to gather baseline data on bird mortality of those living in association with the lakes.

The beached bird survey gives us a handle on the effects on birds of the changing environmental conditions of the lakes.

Observers on this survey walk a two-mile stretch of shoreline of their choice and simply count, identify, and record the cause of death of all dead and dying birds found along the shore.

Two beaches being covered in Prince Edward County are from Point Petre to Gull Pond, and from Pleasant Bay to two miles beyond Huyck's Point. This year a new party of observers will be monitoring a portion of Sandbanks Beach.

The photograph does not do justice to the beautiful items of creative stitchery on display here. Also misleading is the poster in the background which proclaims the work as being done by a group of ladies known as 'The Lazy Daisies'. The display was too large to be completely covered by the camera, and was done in a three-month period. Leaders Jean Hough and Muriel Mellow took the course offered by the Department of Agriculture in Napanee and taught the craft to other members of 'The Lazy Daisies' group. Members taking the course were Ruth Dickson, Sharon Dickson, Betsy Rutland, Leona Deline, Ruth Hough, Brenda Rutland, Debbie Baldwin and Jane Hough. (Photo by Edna Wilkinson)

Conservation Authority runs flood warning system

Under the Flood Emergency Planning program of the Province of Ontario, the Napanee Region Conservation Authority is responsible for maintaining a warning system to alert municipal representatives, media, local police and other designated agencies in the event of a flood threat in the watersheds of the Napanee and Salmon Rivers.

The Authority has documented a history of local flooding since 1835. Although heavy spring freshets have been responsible for the majority of flooding within these particular watersheds, ice jamming has also had its effect upon the floodplains in more recent years - particularly on the lower Salmon River.

Recent watershed studies and associated floodplain mapping along the two major river systems within the watershed have identified extensive flood prone or hazardous areas. The Authority is currently establishing regulations to control further development in flood prone or flood storage areas.

In addition, the Authority owns and operates 15 dams of variable effectiveness to control water levels and flows, monitors 3 permanent recording stream flow gauges and a variety of staff gauges, and measures snow accumulation on a regular basis to assist in determining flood potential.

In acknowledging the potential for flood damage and mapping those areas most prone to such problems, the Authority recognizes its responsibility to set up a comprehensive warning system to notify local residents occupying flood prone areas of a pending risk.

It is the aim of the Authority to provide a comprehensive flood warning system capable of assessing flood hazards and warning appropriate parties. When such a hazard is imminent, the Authority will advise responsible officials, as well as individuals who are in danger of loss of life or chattels in order that they may react to minimize losses.

In the event of a flood, such a system will be maintained until the threat of further surges of ice and water is past. In addition, the Authority will have recorded the flood stages and documented the flood by means of reports, photographs, etc. in order to be in a better position to forecast possible future floods.

The Authority is a flood warning organization but the response to a flood is a municipal responsibility.

To ensure an immediate response to any flood emergency, the Authority has established a special flood emergency fund. At the request of the head of the municipal council and under the direction of the Authority chairman, limited funds will be made immediately available. The Authority's 15% share of the cost, after grant, will be paid by a levy of 100% against the benefiting municipality.

This fund may be applied against preventive action also.

Taylor pleased about Bell take-over - better service

James Taylor, MPP, Prince Edward-Lennox, announced today that he was pleased to find such broad-based support throughout Ontario for the sale of Community Telephone to Bell Canada.

'This has been a long time in coming,' Taylor said. 'The sale of Community to Bell, if it is approved, should result in an improved telephone service for subscribers in the Lennox area.'

'Community's proposed 80 per cent rate increase is incredible in light of the poor service and customer relations they provide. I think this proposed increase demonstrates that Community Telephone just doesn't have the means to provide a modern service for rural areas.'

'It's time a company that can provide a viable service at sensible rates was put in charge of Community's operations in our area.'

Taylor, in company with other Ontario Progressive Conservative MPP's, has had a number of meetings with representatives from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications, and with the Minister, the Hon. James Snow, expressing the concern of his constituents with the recent proposed rate increases and with the kind of service that Community Telephone has provided.

'I am hopeful that the submissions presently before the Ontario Telephone Service Commission will result in the sale of Community to Bell,' Taylor said. 'At present, it would appear that only Bell Canada can provide the quality of service that our rural areas need.'

ATOMS CAPTURE CHAMPIONSHIP

After a brief attempt to have a 'round robin' playoff between Napanee, Tamworth and Deseronto OMHA Atoms, the competition quickly boiled down to just Napanee and Deseronto.

A five-game playoff schedule was drawn up and the two teams squared off for the Quinte St. Lawrence Atom 'C' Championship.

Game one was played in Napanee on Friday, March 21, at 8:00 p.m. The Napanee squad struck early, and before the game was two minutes old, the Deseronto boys trailed by 2 to 0.

Scott Thompson potted both Napanee goals. The first was assisted by Mark Richardson and Jeremy Rogers and the second was assisted by Mark Richardson.

With just over two minutes remaining, Deseronto's Tim Smart scored an unassisted goal to cut the Napanee lead to one.

The second period saw the Deseronto Atoms play a better brand of hockey. In front of good goaltending by Dan Loney, the team kept pressing. Tim Smart scored from Hamlyn Maaracle to pull the locals even and then Tim scored his third goal of the game from Hamlyn and Pat Stewart to lift Deseronto into a 3 to 2 lead.

Napanee refused to give up, and it was Scott Thompson again scoring to bring his team back even, assisted by John Stewart.

Despite numerous scoring chances by both teams, the third period ended in a 3-3 tie and at 10 minute overtime had to be played.

After five minutes had ticked by, Deseronto's Jamie Lalonde scored from Jamie Scero and Tim Smart to bring game one victory to Deseronto.

Game 2 was played in Deseronto on Saturday, March 22. Goalie Dan Loney played shut out hockey for Deseronto and when the final buzzer sounded Deseronto held a 3 to 0 lead on goals to give them a 2 to 0 lead on games over their Napanee rivals.

Tim Smart scored twice for Deseronto and Johnny McGuinness scored once. Scott Davis, Hamlyn Maaracle and Jamie Lalonde all picked up assists during the game.

The third game was played in Deseronto on March 23 to make it 3 games in 3 days for the teams.

The outcome was not really in doubt from the start. In a span of just over 3 minutes the Deseronto shooters picked up a 3-goal lead early in the first period. Jamie Scero scored from Jamie Lalonde, Scott Davis scored unassisted and then Tim Smart scored from Andrew Cole.

The second period saw only one goal scored as Napanee pulled back to within two on a goal by Mark Richardson from Jeremy Rogers.

Deseronto's Tim Smart made it 4 to 1 in the third on an unassisted goal. Napanee's Howie McFarland from Scott Slack and Jeremy Rogers closed out the scoring at 4 to 2.

The Deseronto Atoms had completed a very trying season with a 3-game sweep to the Quinte St. Lawrence Atom 'C' championship.

Doug Hearn from Picton was on hand to offer his congratulations to the teams and to issue championship crests to the Deseronto Atoms.

Wilbert Maaracle, Tom Jackson and Paul Davis are to be congratulated for their efforts. These volunteers did not always see eye to eye during the season, but all three were 100% behind the boys.

Much criticism was levelled at these gentlemen throughout the year, but it was not until the team was on the ice for their first game when a coaching staff was finally secured.

Let's have lots of volunteers next season.

Have a good summer, Atoms. See you at the rink next fall.

Check your garden for winterkill

This winter of extremely mild temperatures followed by severely cold periods may have taken its toll on some of our less hardy garden plants, says Russ Gomme, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist.

'The lack of protective snow cover during the cold snaps may have caused more winter damage than usual,' he says. 'As soon as the frost is out of the ground, check perennials, trees, shrubs and evergreens for damage.'

Heaving is one of the most common types of winter damage. Plant roots are forced out of the ground by repeated freezing and thawing. Such perennials as iris, Shasta daisy and chrysanthemums are particularly susceptible. It is also a good idea to check roses.

'If the plants have heaved, it is important to get the roots back into the soil as soon as possible,' says Mr. Gomme. 'If the roots are exposed to the air too long, they will dry out and the plant will die.'

Home gardeners may also notice more winterkill in garden plants, shrubs and evergreens this year. However, don't be too hasty to get out the pruning shears.

'Give the plant every chance to show that it is alive,' advises

Mr. Gomme. 'Wait until the foliage appears or the buds swell before pruning. If the plants look sickly, add a little fertilizer around the base of the plant for encouragement.'

Check wood on shrubs by scratching the bark with your fingernail. If the wood is green, the branch is alive. Winterkill on evergreen shrubs is easily identified by brown patches. This damage usually affects the outer foliage which is the young wood. Trimming the brown edges may stimulate new growth.

'Before pruning roses, wait for the buds to swell,' says Mr. Gomme. 'If the buds are swelling all the way up the shoot, it is alive and healthy. Hybrid tea roses that weren't killed up last fall may have been winterkilled. If the top growth is damaged, you may have to prune back a little bit further than the usual 15 to 20 cm (6 to 8 inches).'

Home gardeners may also notice southwest injury on fruit trees and flowering crab trees. Alternating periods of hot sun and freezing night temperatures cause the bark to split, and dry out the exposed wood. To help remedy this injury, tack the bark back to the tree using common one-inch nails. Then, paint the wound with tree paint. Sometimes the tree will heal itself by forming a layer underneath the loosened bark.

SPRING CLEANING

Housing shortage in bird land is cause for lament. But Jenny Wren has a practical bent - A show, an old tin can, or a hat. Jenny can make a home out of this or that: She had chosen a piece of old telephone pole. Into which friend Woodpeck has chiselled a hole. Having chosen this housing site, For exclusive rights she was ready to fight - White feathers, gray feathers flew out the door, Each passing moment, out flew more! Though you could not see the blustering bride Grass and feathers streamed from inside - In triumphant possession all summer long Jennifer paid the rent with song!

Andrea Scales is a really 'crafty' lady

BY ANITA GENTILE

During the long winter months, many of us turn our hands to some new project or other to keep busy, and Andrea Scales is no exception. From talking to her though, it is soon apparent that she is just as busy year round.

Andrea, an R.N. who has worked at both Millhaven and Bath Penitentiaries, is a married lady with three children. Recently moved from Amherstview to R.R. 2, Napanee, Andrea is originally from Verona and enjoys the country life. She was interested to learn that the house she and her family now live in used to be a hotel, or as rumour has it, the site of the original hotel believed to have been torn down, and the current house rebuilt. Local history states that the hotel was the local watering hole between Belleville and Kingston.

Upon entering Andrea's home, one is immediately impressed with the many examples of her handiwork. An attractive curtaining of macramé frames the door of the family room, while equally delightful creations enhance the walls. A beautiful hanging table, elaborately macraméed and adorned with plants, sets off one corner. Crotchet is in evidence by the colourful throws displayed and the several eye-catching lampshade covers, while Andrea's own paintings add distinctively to create a very pleasant overall effect.

Andrea has sketched for as long as she can remember and took up painting three years ago. Taking a two month course at St. Lawrence College, she paints with acrylic. She has sold some paintings to friends, also charcoal sketches of children. Several she has given as wedding gifts. One painting which caught my eye was of two pheasants set against a red background and effectively placed in an antique frame. This, Andrea told me, was a gift for her husband Larry's birthday.

Another painting takes pride of place over the mantel in her living room. It is of her three children, Heidi, Kelly and Greg.

Andrea is also interested in and collects antiques. After reading up on the subject, she does her own refinishing.

Besides all of the above, Andrea belongs to a local woman's group, is active in The Explorers, and conducts a weekly exercise and diet class in Napanee.

There is only one thing left to say. Judging from the above, I think I can safely say that Andrea Scales is never, never, bored!

Everywhere you look in Andrea Scales' home you see samples of her handiwork.

Adolphustown to ask for flood help

Adolphustown Township Council is going to request a supplementary allocation of funds for 1980 from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications, based on a total expenditure of $10,000 to repair flood damage.

Also at its March 25th meeting, Council discussed revision of trailer by-laws and is going to get legal advice about updating them.

A building by-law amending the present building by-law 737 and incorporating changes is to be prepared for passage at the next meeting of council.

One application for reduction in assessment due to demolition was approved and a second was to be handled by the 1980

Review Court.

A building permit for H. Allison was approved.

Council accepted a Recreational budget of $2,400.

The by-law officer was authorized to arrange a day for the pick-up of dry garbage in the municipality and advertise the day.

The Tile Drainage Application from G. Robertson, based on a total expenditure of $7,220 was approved subject to the availability of money from the Provincial Government

Tom Tomkow spoke to council on the matter of fire fighting. He is to return to council in the fall for further discussion.

Zetetic, quetzal, khamsin and krypton useful words for some

By BESS WARES

Zetetic, quetzal, khamsin, krypton do you know what these four words have in common?

You would, if you were a dedicated Scrabble player. They are all seven letter words which use a number of tough letters.

In Scrabble, the usual letters like E, I, O, U, A, L, N, and so, only count for one point each but when you get a Z and use it in a word, it gives you 10 points. AND, if you use all seven of your letters on one word, you get letters on one word, you get an extra 50 points.

There are other bonuses too. Some of the squares on which you build up your words give you a double or triple points.

If your house was anything like mine, this Easter weekend, filled with visiting family members of all age groups, you probably got hooked into playing a lot of games, the same as I did. Scrabble is a favourite with us. For one thing, you don't need four to play it, like bridge. And, for another, it's a great way to teach the kids how to spell.

After the kids go to bed and the adults are playing it by themselves, it gets a lot tougher and nastier.

Being a writer, like I am, turns you into a 'word nut'. I'm interested in words, do crossword puzzles, read dictionaries, delve into word derivations and so on.

Consequently I have quite a vocabulary of unusual words that most people don't know, and they are continually challenging the words I come up with on the Scrabble board.

After all the company had left on Monday, I got out the crossword dictionary to see what new and unfamiliar words I could make use of the next time we got together for Scrabble ... and I'll share them with you.

Z and Q are the two letters which give you 10 points, and there aren't that many words that start with them.

But how about zetetic, the seven-letter word mentioned above. In case you don't know what it means ... and I didn't ... it's a seeker.

Or suppose someone uses the word zoo and you haven't got an M to add to it. Try zoophyte. It uses the Z for 10, P for 3, H for 4 and Y for 4. What does it mean? ... a kind of coral.

A dandy starting with Q that I didn't know is quern, which means mill.

Another Q word with 7 letters is quetzal which means a trogon. That trogon didn't help me much. I couldn't find it in the dictionary. But I did hit on trochee, a medicinal lozenge, and, by adding an E, trochee which in verse means a foot of two syllables with the first long and the second short.

Local youth offered Canadian tryout

By WAYNE CASSIDY

John Farrell, presently playing centre for the Belleville Bobcats, is a prime example of talent and determination.

Until the fall of 1975, John's hockey career was restricted to an ice pad on the Salmon River at Lonsdale, or to a frozen area of ice on one of the fields around their family farm.

When Deseronto and District Recreation Centre opened in 1975, John signed up as a Bantam hockey player for the Deseronto and District Minor Hockey.

It was a bad year for all local OMHA teams. Many players were playing organized hockey for the first time, and competition was stiff.

When the Deseronto OMHA Bantams took to the ice for the first league game, they were facing off against the Fort Henry Cannons. Then the last whistle blew, Deseronto had lost 18 to 0.

NOWHERE TO GO BUT UP

There was nowhere to go but up, and although the club recorded few victories in the first season, the boys gained a lot of experience.

John Farrell led the team on the ice, never giving up and always giving that 'extra drive' that is so required of good hockey players. The last game of the 1975-76 season was also against the Fort Henry Cannons. Again Deseronto lost. This time the score was 4 to 3.

The 1976-77 season, John played for Deseronto's OMHA Midget entry. The team steadily improved, but when playoff time came it was back to the showers.

Deseronto's OMHA Midget entry in 1977-78 started to provide results for the coaches and fans of Deseronto and District Minor Hockey. The District produced contenders in both Pee Wee and Midget Divisions.

John Farrell, captain of the Reid-Sutcliffe Midgets, scored 41 goals and 36 assists in the regular season.

In the 'Ontario Playdowns' against Marmora and Newcastle, John scored another 19 goals and picked up 20 assists. These statistics, combined with a yearly total of 12 minutes in penalties, explain John's leadership and 'puck sense'.

Firemen told 25 killed yearly in electrical accidents

By TERRY SPRAGUE

Electrical shocks and how they occur was demonstrated last Wednesday night when Max Macleod, Safety Officer for Ontario Hydro's Eastern Region spoke to the Firemen's Mutual Aid Association in Demorestville Hall.

By using a miniature electrical display, consisting of a sub-station, power lines, transformers, buildings, etc., the officer demonstrated eight typical accidents which can occur, all based on actual incidents which have taken place in this district.

He said in the Eastern region, 25 people every year are killed due to electrical accidents, and some 75 or 80 are involved in electrical mishaps, many through carelessness.

'Every year in this part of the province (Eastern region), we have two fatalities from erecting or dismantling antennae. Every week, we lose three hydro poles from cars colliding into them.'

With reference to the latter, the speaker explained the insulating qualities of the car's rubber tires makes it imperative that the driver remain in the vehicle until hydro crews remove the wires from the vehicle. If one must leave the car, it must be a clean jump to prevent any possibilities of grounding.

There are 1,000 milliamps in one ampere, and the speaker explained that any electrical shock above nine milliamps can stop breathing. From 100 to 200 milliamps will cause the heart to go into fibrillation. Above that, burning takes place.

Don't let anyone dispute you, Don Miller. Quetzal is a perfectly good dictionary word and it carries a Scrabble count of 25 points, plus another 50 for using up all your letters.

THERE ARE NO MINOR TRAFFIC OFFENCES

On March 31, the Ontario Government initiated a new court system designed specifically and exclusively for minor offences.

According to advertisements paid for by Attorney-General Roy McMurtry's office, 'Procedures have been simplified and streamlined and provide you with new ways to assert your rights in a forum that's fair, efficient and informal. As well the new law provides a quick and informal appeal mechanism.'

If you are charged with committing a minor offence you will be handed a simple form with three options clearly spelled out... you may sign the guilty plea on the back of the offence notice and forward it, along with the specified fine, to the court or ...you may sign the not guilty plea and forward it to the court, in which case you will be notified of the time and place of your trial... or you may plead guilty with an explanation. That's a new right, which you may exercise when you do not wish to dispute the charge itself, but instead, wish to explain the circumstances and seek a reduction in the penalty or an extension of the time to pay the fine.

'We all make mistakes,' the advertisements say, 'and until now the Provincial Court has processed all minor infractions of the law through to serious crimes, in virtually the same manner. Justice was done, but all too often none too quickly.'

We have no bone to pick with the Attorney General in taking action to see that justice is done more expeditiously.

But what we do object to is what is covered under the definition of a minor offence...almost all offences against provincial laws and regulations...highway violations such as speeding, the failure to wear seat belts, or failure to maintain the safety of your motor vehicle.

Going out in a car that you know is not safe to drive ...or roaring along the highway at a high rate of speed...or stealing the safety cushion of the fellow in front of you by tailgating...are not minor offences. You are endangering the lives of everyone else on the road. Your car is as much a lethal weapon as if it were a gun.

We don't object to having such charges handled in such a way as to save those charged ...and the courts ...time. But we do object to the Attorney General even suggesting that the 'crimes' are 'minor infractions of the law.'

It's that kind of thinking that has gotten us into the mess we're in today ...with hospitals crowded with traffic victims whose emergencies must be looked after right away while others wait for operations, or blood ...and with an ever-increasing total in the traffic fatality files.

The first television broadcasts were made in England in 1927 and in the U.S. in 1930, but regular broadcasting did not begin until 1939 in New York City.

Sure must be spring. See all the auction sales is starting up again, so folks will be able to stand around in the mud bidding up the prices till they end up paying more for the stuff than it costs brand new down town.

Mind you, I ain't saying you can't get no bargains at the sales, just that you have to be real careful not to get carried away. There were a time when me and Elma used to go regular to see what was for sale, but seems we ain't done so much of it lately.

Maybe part of the reason is that there's too many buyers coming in looking for antiques. They sure raise the prices on you. I recall a few years back there were one feller moved in to the county and used to go to all the sales buying up stuff. Must of been made of money the prices he paid. Got the locals real mad, fact my Elma bid him up a time or two so he ended up paying twice what he should of done for stuff. She danged near give me a fit, if'n he'd of backed out, I'd have been stuck with useless junk I'd paid a fortune for.

Now, mind you, not all incomers are like that, and I sure don't want to get folks on my neck the way Harry Evans done by calling newcomers bloody foreigners. There's always been plenty of that done, and seems to me that them as didn't have too much leeway were the ones calling folks foreign.

Like the time I were getting my hair cut, and the guy in the next chair was cussing out all these bloody Dutchmen coming over and taking jobs from locals. Now, even if he hadn't of had a Dutch name, I knew fer a fact that his Dad got off the boat only twenty or thirty years before.

Same with our Harry. I know he's been around a good while, but anybody who talks the way he does sure ain't no native son. Only difference is some folks come sooner and some later.

Was talking to one of the Mohawks a couple of weeks ago and he were telling me a story about some feller carrying on about all these here boat people being let in to the country. That Indian got a real kick out of that. As far as his people are concerned, all us white men are boat people. Who was it said that the only thing wrong with the Indians' government was its immigration policy?

Firemen exchange ideas

18 FIRE DEPARTMENTS

Ninety-two firemen were in attendance, representing 18 area fire departments, from Picton north to Madoc and Marmora, and from Trenton east to Deseronto.

Sophiasburgh Fire Chief, Walter Pulver, explained that there are some 23 departments which belong to Mutual Aid and extend as far north as Wollaston Township.

Departments which belong to Mutual Aid may call on a neighbouring department for assistance if needed, at no charge to the township.

Meetings take place once a month and the various departments take turns hosting the meetings and supplying food and refreshments for the event. This is the second time Sophiasburgh has hosted a monthly meeting. The last one to be held in Deseronto was August 3, 1978.

KEEPS US INFORMED

'It gets all the guys together, a chance to exchange ideas and keep us up to date on new techniques - it keeps us informed,' Chief Pulver commented.

Conducting the meeting and giving reports last Wednesday night were Sophiasburgh Fire Chief Walter Pulver; Wilf Pickett, president of Mutual Aid; Doug Bradshaw, secretary-treasurer of Mutual Aid; Fred Hoskin, Belleville Fire Chief and Mutual Aid co-ordinator; and Clyde Pope from the Ontario Fire Marshall's Office.

In commenting on the Sophiasburgh department, Sophiasburgh Reeve George Foster stressed he had nothing but praise for the department.

'You are definitely the greatest part of the community, a group of people, dedicated to saving what we have. You are part of a community and help to knit the community together.'

In his remarks he recognized and welcomed the newest members to the fire department and gave recognition to the local department for the financial assistance they had given to minor sports.

At the close of the meeting, it was announced that the next Mutual Aid meeting would be hosted by the St. Mary's Township Fire Department, Eastern Division. There will be a guest speaker who will give a talk on hazardous materials.

Max Macleod, Safety Officer for Ontario Hydro's Eastern Region used this miniature display to demonstrate how electrical mishaps occur.

One April Morning in the Past

An April morning and a raw wind blowing - the gray air heavy, whirling, snowing -
In the fresh snow, a Robin singing!
Standing in the snow, jubilantly singing!
It is Spring!

His warm red breast against the cold white snowing.
His jet head raised, his manner reassuring -
So lovely it was! I stood forgetting -
All the waiting and the bleak winds blowing -
It is Spring!

When Belnaps started commercial fishing in the Bay of Quinte, more than 100 years ago, there were lots of whitefish and herring and Belnaps are still making at least part of their living from fish. Bill Belnap of Northport and several helpers were busy Monday cleaning the bullheads they had caught that day. 'Last winter wasn't too bad but this winter there was nothing to catch,' Bill said. However, the fish are coming in now and Bill will be busy with them until he takes on his job at the lift bridge between the county and Belleville when the navigation season gets into full swing.

Old planes are kept on display

The National Aeronautical Collection, one of the finest of its kind in the world, illustrates the importance of aircraft in building modern Canada and recalls the history of aviation in peace and war.

The names of the aircraft evoke stirring moments in the annals of manned flight - Silver Dart, Avro 504K, Nieuport 17, Sopwith Pup, Hurricane, Lancaster, North Star, Noorduyn Norseman.

Sixty-five of the over 90 aircraft in the collection are on display in hangars at Rockcliffe Airport in suburban Ottawa. Others are on loan to the Canadian War Museum, the National Museums of Science and Technology and Ottawa's Uplands Air Terminal.

Also included in the collection which is a division of the National Museum of Science and Technology is a large array of aircraft engines.

Museum staff regularly fly vintage aircraft in air shows held around the country. Over the last year, there were demonstrations at the Abbotsford International Air Show at Abbotsford, B.C., and at the Canadian Armed Forces Base at Trenton.

CAN YOUR CHILD READ THIS STORY WITHOUT ERRORS IN 30 SECONDS?

The Con Man

Al was a con man. He robbed red robes from homes. Then he conned cones from cops. When he saw a fat tramp, he said, "I will con that tramp." The fat tramp was going to his home to get his red robe. Al hopped the gate and came to the fat tramp. "Do you want a red robe, fat man?" Al asked. The fat tramp saw his robe. "I will take that robe if it fits me." He put the robe on and went into his home. "You have just been conned, con man," said the tramp.

PARENTS

If your child has been taught to read, he should be able to read this story aloud in 30 seconds with no more than 2 errors. If the child makes 3 to 5 errors, practice is probably necessary. If your child makes more than 5 errors, he or she may need additional instruction. If your child cannot complete the passage in 30 seconds, help may be necessary. BAD SERVICE BACK TO NORMAL

According to a report from Canadian Press last Tuesday, Telephone operator services should return to something approaching normal in Ontario and Quebec today as Bell Canada operators head back to work after setting their 10 week strike.

And they were right on target as far as your editor's phone service was concerned.

Tuesday night, we had no service at all on our 8-party rural line, for about an hour and a half. That's approaching normal for us all right.

CONFUSED ABOUT LAKE TROUT?

Telephone calls to Ministry of Natural Resources offices indicate some people are confused by the change in the legal season for fishing for lake trout that became law early this week.

The change is only for divisions nine and ten in the Ontario Summary of Fishing Regulations and these divisions are the area east of and including the county of Lennox and Addington. The boundary line runs roughly from Adolphus-town at the Bay of Quinte, north to Barry's Bay. Other boundaries are, but do not include, Lake Ontario, the St. Lawrence River and the Ottawa River. The northern boundary runs in an arc from Barry's Bay around to Pembroke.

In these divisions, lake trout season is closed until June 7 and will remain open until September 8.

Rainbow and brook trout seasons opened January 1 and will remain open until September 30 in divisions nine and ten. Also, pike and pickerel seasons will open May 10, bass seasons open June 28 and the maskee season opens June 21.

Wildlife kit to go to schools

How to tell a moth from a butterfly or one bird species from another are outlined in a wildlife kit to be distributed to public and secondary schools throughout Ontario by the Ministry of Natural Resources during National Wildlife Week, April 7-13.

Educational kits with the theme 'Wildlife In Your Backyard' include a colour poster with hints on what to look for on nature hikes or neighbourhood strolls, as well as information on wildlife behaviour, food and habitat.

Material was compiled by federal and provincial wildlife agencies. The kit was produced by the Canadian Wildlife Federation.

As is our custom, my ministry is pleased to support the Canadian Wildlife Federation in focusing attention on 'National Wildlife Week.' Natural Resources Minister James Auld said.

'The material we are sending out to Ontario schools will, we hope, make students more aware of their local environment as a habitat for wildlife.'

National Wildlife Week is held annually to commemorate Jack Miner who established the internationally known bird sanctuary at Kingsville, Ontario, southeast of Windsor. At his death in 1944, the Jack Miner Migratory Bird Foundation, founded in 1931 to administer the Kingsville sanctuary, continued to operate under family direction.

Ohio-born Jack Miner (1865-1944) came to Kingsville with his family when he was 13. As a young man, he launched the first Ontario game protection association, gradually established a haven for ducks and geese, and pioneered the banding of birds to establish their migration patterns.

National Wildlife Week was established in 1947 by unanimous vote of the Canadian parliament to dedicate a special week as a reminder to Canadians of the infinite value of wildlife. The week always includes April 10, Jack Miner's birthdate.

The Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food's maple syrup specialist, John Butler, is a busy man at this time of year. Here he is checking maple syrup grades with producer Bob McEwen, right, of Lanark county, and forestry management specialist Jim McCready, left, of the Ministry of Natural Resources. There are two grades of maple syrup sold in Ontario - Canada No. 1 and Canada No. 2. The no. 1 grade, preferred for table use, is available in three color categories - extra light, light and medium. The maple flavour becomes more pronounced as the colour darkens. Canada No. 2 grade has a darker colour and stronger flavour than the No. 1 grade, making it ideal for use in cooking.

Minor Offences

Read your rights. Know your options under the Provincial Offences Act.

The new Provincial Offences Act introduces a new form of law designed especially for minor offences such as traffic, liquor, hunting and fishing violations. The new system is simple, informal and convenient, and offers anyone charged with a minor offence a new choice for handling his or her case. But you have to act. It's up to you.

Sometimes we've had some very complicated recipes in this column but today's is not one of them. We got it from Peter Corey of Kingston.

IDIOT COOKIES

Step one:

- 2/3 cups of butter
- 1 cup of white sugar
- 1/2 cup of brown sugar

Step two:

- 1 egg
- 3 tea spoons of vanilla

Step four:

- 1/2 tea spoon of baking soda
- 2 cups of flour

Bake at 350, 10 minutes for chewy...12 minutes for crispy.

Beat eggs and salt until blended. Add shrimp, mushrooms, bean sprouts and onions.

Heat about 2 tablespoons of oil in moderately hot frying pan. For each omelette, pour about 1/4 cup of the egg mixture into pan. Cook about 1 minute until lightly browned on the bottom, then turn and cook on the other side for another minute. Transfer to a heated serving platter and keep warm.

Repeat with remaining egg mixture, adding oil to the pan as needed.

Makes 8 pancakes or 4 servings.

Start your vegetable garden early this year

Get an early taste of homegrown vegetables this summer by starting your vegetable seedlings now, says Bob Fleming, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist.

Vegetables such as tomatoes, peppers, eggplants, cabbage and lettuce can be started from seed in early April to give you a head start on the growing season.

'The most important requirement of seedlings is a good soil or an artificial growing soil medium,' says Mr. Fleming. 'To prevent fungus diseases, use a sterilized material.'

Most artificial soils are already sterile, but if you are using potting soil, it's a good idea to pasteurize it. Spread the soil over a cookie sheet and bake it in an oven at 82°C (180°F). Allow 10 minutes for the soil to reach this temperature and then bake for 20 minutes. Wait two or three days before using the soil.

To germinate the seeds, cover them lightly with soil and moisten. Set the seed flats in a warm location 21 to 23°C (70 to 75°F) and keep them moist.

When the seeds germinate move them to a location with a good bright light,' advises Mr. Fleming. 'East or south facing windows are ideal, but west windows may be a bit too warm. Once they have germinated, the seedlings prefer moderate temperatures (18°C or 65°F). Water seedlings in the morning to prevent fungus diseases.'

The first sign of life is the development of tiny cotyledon leaves. When the first 'true' leaves appear, the seedlings should be thinned so they are 5 to 7 cm (2 to 2½ in.) apart, or transplanted into separate pots.

'If you have used an artificial seedling medium, transplant seedlings into a good potting soil,' says Mr. Fleming.

By mid-May you can begin hardening the seedlings. This acclimatization process enables the plant to withstand the transition from the indoor environment to the garden.

Set the seedlings outdoors for one-half hour in a shady location when weather permits. Over a period of one or two weeks, gradually increase the outdoor periods. When the fear of frost is past, transplant the seedlings into the garden.

'Tomatoes, lettuce and cabbage can be set out in the garden in late May but wait until the first week of June before transplanting eggplants and peppers,' advises Mr. Fleming.

These two recipes are from the Ontario Egg Producers' Marketing Board.

SCOTCH EGGS

- 12 hard-cooked eggs, peeled
- 1/2 cup flour
- 2 pounds skinless sausage meat
- 1 and 1/2 tsp. basil
- 1 tsp. sage
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1 egg
- 1 tsp. water
- 2-3 cups fine bread crumbs of seasoned coating mix

Roll eggs in flour. Combine sausage meat with basil, sage, salt and pepper. With floured hands cover each egg with sausage mixture.

Make egg wash by combining egg and water. Dip each sausage-covered egg in wash and roll in crumbs. Refrigerate 10 to 15 minutes to allow crumbs to dry.

Fry in deep fat (350 degrees F.) until golden brown.

If preferred, Scotch Eggs may be cooked in shallow fat or baked in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until sausage meat is thoroughly cooked.

Serve hot with a tomato or mushroom sauce; or serve cold. For hors d'oeuvres, use 12 small eggs to 1 and 1/2 pounds of sausage meat.

EGG FOO YUNG

Foo Yung Sauce

- 3/4 cup chicken stock
- 1 tsp. soy sauce
- 1 tsp. cornstarch dissolved in 2 tsp. cold water

Bring stock to a boil and add soy sauce and cornstarch mixture. Cook over low heat until thickened. Reheat to serve over omelettes.

Omelettes

- 6 eggs
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 cup cooked shrimp, pork or chicken, diced
- 1 cup bean sprouts, fresh or canned
- 3-4 mushrooms, chopped (about 1/2 cup)
- 1/3 cup finely chopped green onion
- Oil as needed

Baha'i Faith

Charity is beloved and acceptable before God and is accounted the chief among all good deeds. Indeed, this blessed work is, in this connection, a sun among worlds. Blessed is he who prefers his brother before himself; such a one is of the people of Baha'.

'They who are possessed of riches, must have the utmost regard for the poor for great is the honour destined by God for those poor who are steadfast in patience ... There is no honour, except what God may please to bestow, that can compare to this honour. Great is the blessedness awaiting the poor that endure their sufferings and conceal their riches from the needy and prefer them before themselves.'

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of a dear Dad and Grandfather, Clayton Roy Brant, who passed away April 11, 1979.

It only takes a little space
To write how much we miss you
But it will take the rest of our lives,
To forget the day we lost you.
You left us quietly
Your thoughts unknown
We are proud to own.
So treasure him, Lord,
In your garden of rest,
For when on earth
He was one of the best.
Sadly missed, but never will be forgotten.

Your daughter and grandchildren (Diane, Tim, Robert, Clayton, Johnny.)

In Loving Memory of Clayton Roy Brant who passed away April 11, 1979.

Two tired eyes are sleeping
Two willing hands are still
For one who suffered far too much Is resting in God's will.
You never said goodbye to us,
For perhaps it's just as well,
We never could have said goodbye,
To the one we loved so well.

Sadly missed, but will never be forgotten by daughter and very close friend, Diane and Garnet.

When the 1978-79 season rolled around, John again signed up with Deseronto and District Minor Hockey. His past performance was catching up with him, however, and he was invited to 'try out' for the Napanee Kelly Tirenmen in the Junior 'C' ranks.

He had no trouble making the team and was given his release to go on to better things.

The season saw the Tirenmen end up in fourth place in a 5-team league. One of the brightest lights of the year was John's performance. He picked up 32 goals and 33 assists for the season to earn the team scoring title.

Inspiration to young players

His point output was 4th for the entire league.

John also earned the 'Most Valuable Player' award. It is interesting to note that during this season, both John and Peter Morris played for the Napanee Junior 'C' team, but almost every Saturday they continued to play 'house league' hockey in Deseronto.

At the start of the 1979-80 season, John Farrell again came back to Deseronto and District Minor Hockey.

This time it was again to ask for a 'release'. He had gone up one more notch, and had earned a regular shift with the Belleville Bobcats of the Metro Junior 'B' league, playing out of the Trenton Memorial Gardens.

The Bobcats completed an outstanding season, finishing in first place in their division.

John's donation to the team was 19 goals and 35 assists, combined always with the extra effort in the corners and in front of the net.

During the season John was picked to a berth on the 'All Star Team', earned a gold watch as 'Fans' Choice' during one month and also earned a hockey bag as team 'Player of the Month'.

IN PLAY OFFS

The team is still in the playoffs, already having beaten out Oshawa, Peterborough, Toronto St. Michaels and look like a shoo-in to defeat Streetsville.

John Farrell is an important reason why the team has gone this far, and his ability could still guarantee him further advances in hockey.

Late in the season, John was approached by former Montreal Canadian NHL great, Dickie Moore, who inquired if he would be interested in a tryout for a 'Canadian' farm team.

Deseronto Minor Hockey is proud to have been a part of John's career. His Deseronto coaches are proud of any small advancement that they may have passed on to him.

The boys still playing in Deseronto can be more aware of how far they can go with hard work and unending desire.

Finish the season with a bang, John. We're watching you, and good luck in the future.

And here's a nice K word that helps you get rid of all those nasty little vowels you sometimes get stuck with ... kiaora which means 'Your health'.

Child abuse is a common problem in Ontario

Children are being abused in Ontario

- Perhaps physically bruised or battered by a frustrated mother or father
- Perhaps emotionally starved with no one who cares enough to touch, talk, protect or supervise the child or provide the child with love, affection and warmth
- Perhaps regularly deprived of proper nutrition, endangering the child's health
- Perhaps a victim of an incestuous relationship with an uncle, an older brother or even the child's natural father

There are concerned persons who will report such cases to the Children's Aid Society. Their initiative may even save the child's life

It's a recurring horror tale of abused and neglected children the world over. Thousands of children will be abused in Canada this year. What are we doing in Ontario to deal with this problem?

'Child abuse is a major problem in society today,' says Judge George Thompson, Associate Deputy Minister of the Ministry of Community and Social Services, 'and the protection, safety and welfare of children continue to be top on our priority list.'

'Positive steps are being taken all over the province by cooperative, skilful teamworkers to improve methods of prevention, detection and treatment of child abuse,' he added.

On the professional level many physicians, teacher-public health nurses, educators, social workers and police have been taught through training seminars to recognize signs of child abuse and how to deal with it.

Under the revised Child Welfare Act, it is the legal responsibility of professionals and officials to report suspected cases of child abuse to a Children's Aid Society. Failure to do so could result in a fine of up to $1,000.

In our society we are fortunate to have professional people who are trained in child growth and development and are ideally placed to observe the child over a period of time and, in some cases, under difficult circumstances,' said Dr. Herbert Sohn of Toronto, co-ordinator of the Child Abuse Program in Ontario. 'If we are to protect children, we need reports from these experts who see evidence of children being abused.'

Dr. Sohn stressed the importance of the public being made aware of the professionals' responsibility, and consequently supportive in their attempts to eliminate child abuse.

He pointed out that teachers, for instance desire to maintain good rapport with the parents of their pupils. When they report a case of child abuse they do not wish to cause trouble for the family. They are primarily concerned about the child's welfare and safety. They are also assured that when they report a suspicion of abuse, the report will be investigated by sensitive professionals, and if necessary, the family in question will receive the expert counselling required to help them live together more harmoniously and to cope better with crisis.

According to statistics, between 10 and 15 deaths are attributed by coroners to child abuse every year in Ontario. In 1978, more than 1700 cases of abuse were reported and conservative estimates are that some two to three thousand incidents occur in Ontario annually.

Experts would like to see more child rearing courses offered for adults as well as more effective parenting classes in the school system beginning at the primary level. Courses on child growth and development and human relations are being offered in some Ontario schools. In some cases, as part of the course, high school students work as volunteers in day care centres where they can see appropriate child care methods being applied.

Abuse tends to breed abuse. It's like a vicious circle. A father batters his child or a child sees violence in his home and grows up to become an abusive parent because that is the only form of child rearing he knows. In fact, he learns to deal with relationship problems by using force.

Much is being done in Ontario to combat child abuse, but as Dr. Sohn puts it, 'Solving it will take increased co-operation from everyone — professionals, neighbours and friends alike.'

It takes a lot of courage to report a suspected case of child abuse or neglect. But it's a small price to pay to save a child from becoming a victim of serious emotional harm or crippling injury — maybe even death.

If you care, what are you doing about it? What would you like to see others do about it? Today's children are tomorrow's adults. They deserve a better chance. Send comments to: 'Child Abuse Program', 700 Bay Street, Toronto, Ontario M7A 1E9.

PE welfare budget cut may be a mistake

How does Prince Edward County do it?

While most municipalities have been having problems keeping up to welfare costs, Prince Edward, once again, did not spend all that was budgeted for welfare last year.

More than $26,000 of the $216,438 budgeted in 1979 was not spent by the end of the fiscal year.

And, as a result, County Council decided, after some discussion, to cut down the welfare budget for 1980 from the $231,670 asked for to $219,750. The increase over last year is not even 2%, although the total county budget is up 19% this year.

That may have been a mistake. Things are not going as well at the welfare office this year as last.

'We are running a little overspent now,' said Evelyn Beaumont, who is in charge of the county welfare office in Picton. 'I do expect to go into overexpenditure before the end of the year unless the economy changes.'

Ms. Beaumont put some of the blame on the new unemployment insurance legislation.

'We had some people with 18 and 19 weeks of unemployment who did not qualify for Unemployment Insurance benefits under the new legislation. They had already drawn during the specified period,' she said. 'And the problem with the UIC changes was that they mainly affected male heads of families.'

She also pointed out that there had been more layoffs in the county since November.

'It started to level off in late March and early this month,' she said. 'Some people in the Rednersville and Ameliasburgh area are being called back to work in Trenton.'

The 10% increase in welfare payments for families, announced recently by the Provincial Government, she felt were a good thing, even though the county will have to pick up the cost of some of the increase. 'I feel they were needed,' she said.

Under existing legislation, the Province and the municipality share welfare costs, with the municipality picking up 20% of the tab. And, if someone is entitled to welfare, the municipality has to provide it, whether there is money in the budget or not.

In Prince Edward County, people on welfare must take work if it's available, but right now there is an unemployment rate of 8 to 9% in the whole Quinte area.

'Right now, we're becoming firm with employables,' Ms. Beaumont said.

But, as the Scanner has pointed out before, there is a problem in the county in that many of the jobs coming up now may pay less than welfare, because there is no minimum wage for farm workers until time for the crops to be harvested.

'Minimum wage is about the same as welfare,' Ms. Beaumont said.

She feels that most people who need welfare help are willing to work. 'They have a lot of pride in the county,' she said.

L&A BETTER OFF

'We didn't overspend last year but we were so close to the line,' said Arthur Dawson who heads the Lennox and Addington welfare office in Napanee.

He asked for, and County Council approved, a budget of $609,178 for 1980, about 10% more than last year.

'It's better this year,' he said. 'We have a lower caseload this year than we had last year at this time. Actually the first time we saw a drop was in November.'

'But that doesn't mean we're spending less. Costs are up and we have more families than before and less single people.'

Deseronto wants a say in Ottawa - Provincial deal for reserve water

Although Deseronto Town Council still has some questions and doubts about what kind of an agreement can be drawn up to protect the town's interests, council still agrees in principle with supplying water to part of the Mohawk Reserve.

Modris H. Toza, project manager with the project co-ordination Branch of the Ministry of Environment in Toronto, was at Monday night's meeting of council to provide information about coming to an agreement.

The Provincial Ministry, he said, wants to enter into an agreement with the federal government rather than having Deseronto enter into an agreement with the Mohawk Band.

'How much input would we have, how far down the road do we go before we could stop it,' Councillor Bob Graydon wanted to know.

Other concerns by councillors were ... 'We think we should be assured of putting in our two cents worth' ... 'The agreement should come to Deseronto council for approval' ... 'There's a big variable in the growth population estimate,' ... 'Are we locked in permanently and if so what if our population takes a big jump sometime?'

'Will there be any gain to Deseronto other than esthetic?' Councillor C. Zieman asked.

'We think there would be some decrease in your service rate, because basic costs would be spread out over more people,' Mr. Toza replied.

'Who would pay for the pipes from the end of our connections to the edge of the Reserve?' Councillor R. Cole wanted to know.

Mr. Tomaz said the federal government would pay for that.

Spencer Grey of the MOE office in Kingston said that he felt the agreement should come to Deseronto council for approval before it was finalized.

Council decided that there was still a lot of preliminary work to be done and Mr. Tomaz and the federal representative will be discussing the situation before coming back to Deseronto council with further information.

Discover leaks 6 years too late

How much water is Deseronto losing every day because of leaks in old water pipes which were not replaced in 1974 when new lines were put into some areas?

This question arose at Monday night's meeting of council when Spencer Grey of the Ministry of the Environment office in Kingston reported that 100,000 gallons a day were being saved since some of the leaky old pipes had been fixed.

Back in 1974, consultants studied the situation of the cast iron water pipes, some of which had been in for 60 to 80 years, Carman Milligan, clerk treasurer told the Scanner Tuesday. 'They said certain lines should be replaced and others would be all right to use. It would appear to be a mistake in judgement ... perhaps it was a wrong decision.'

When some pipes were replaced in 1974 the Provincial government subsidized 75% of the cost.

At a closed session following Monday night's council meeting, it was decided to prepare an estimate of replacing all necessary pipes now and ask Spencer Grey to take the problem to the Provincial Government to see if the 75% subsidy could be available for new pipes now.

Another problem with the old pipes, besides leakage, is 'bleeding' a rust colour into the water. When the pipes were

EDITORIAL

There's an old saying that 'Justice must not only be done, it must be seen to be done', and Deseronto's Recreation Committee has been made aware of this fact.

A new employee has just been hired for work at the Recreation Centre and there are some people in Deseronto who don't think justice was done in the hiring.

They don't like the decision that was made to hire William Young for the job. They have questioned various members of council privately and a letter has been received by the Scanner protesting that 'a person who has stationary engineer's papers did not qualify even for an interview'.

Neither Bill Higgins, chairman of the recreation committee, nor Jack Layfield, recreation director, is the least bit hesitant about 'defending' the justice of the decision which was approved by the members of the recreation committee, after much consideration.

'Whenever a job is going in town, some criticism always comes up,' Councillor Higgins said at Monday night's meeting of town council.

'There were about 25 applications. Some of the applicants were from out of town and we wanted to hire locally. Some had too high salary expectations. The committee looked at all the applications and they were narrowed down to seven. Then we looked at them all again before making a final decision. We spent a lot of time on these applications,' Mr. Higgins said.

Although no one was called in for a 'formal' interview, Jack Layfield told the Scanner that he, personally, talked to every applicant, and questioned them at the time they put in their applications.

Perhaps, if the committee had conducted some formal interviews, justice might more likely have been seen to be done.

This is not the first time Deseronto Council has received public criticism concerning hiring practices but, it would appear that no one else wants to take on the job of running the town's business. This present town council went in by acclamation.

There is an out for those people who don't like the way council does things. They can run in the election coming up next fall... if they are willing to take on the flak and the long hours that come with the job.

Well, I heard on the news yesterday that Rainy LeVeck has decided when to hold his referendum about Quebec taking off on their own. I reckon he asked a pretty simple question, leaves plenty of room to wiggle around in, just asking for the OK to talk about separating.

Figger this here sovereignty association bit won't wash too good though. Seems like they want to have their cake and eat it too, all the advantages of being Canadian, with the advantages of being separated. Reckon they're about to find they can't have her both ways.

Looks like they're counting pretty heavy on the opinion from the rest of Canada. Now I see a fair bit of political 'co-operation' in my time and I don't put no faith in it. I reckon that when ever there's more than one set of fingers in a pie, the confusions begin. I ain't never seen two governments that could co-operate real good, not even little local ones.

Maybe you've noticed on the Bayshore getting near 49 highway. There's a black and white dog lying in the ditch there, dead as a doornail she is, and she were there afore it snowed, and she's lying there yet. I reckon when it gets a bit warmer she'll sure advertise her presence good. Then maybe folks will holler and somebody might move her. Now that's what I mean about neighbourly co-operation between governments. That there road is a county road running on reserve land. Who's responsible for moving dead dogs? By the time they figger it out, it'll be a lot worse job than it would of been back in January when she were frozen.

So, I can't see no co-operation between provinces working too good. Look at Alberta right now. Everybody except Premier Lowheed recalls the days when if it hadn't of been for Ontario, the folks out west would of starved. Now they got oil and we ain't, the boot's on a different foot.

Sure makes you think don't it? And it'll take a lot more laws than keeping two neighbouring farmers peaceful. Sure going to need more than fence regulations and weed control by-laws to settle this one, ain't we?

Now Grandma can borrow toys

BY TERRY SPRAGUE

A toy-lending library opened last Wednesday in Bloomfield, and according to Sheila Gribble, president of the Picton and District chapter of the Federation of University Women who were instrumental in its formation, response has been very good.

'The experience of other toy-lending libraries has been that it took quite a while for it to succeed, but the initial response here has been excellent.'

The library in Bloomfield resulted through efforts of the University Women's Club which endeavoured to organize such a library in Picton. A total of $1,000 was raised for the project through donations from individuals, service clubs, church groups and various organizations.

Last year, however, the Picton Public Library, after approving in principal for the project the previous year, decided a toy-library would not be suitable for the Picton library.

'The donors were very good about the decision,' commented Mrs. Gribble. While a couple did request their donations returned, most of them agreed to let the enthusiastic group hold on to the donations while other routes were investigated.

The toy library was relocated at the Bloomfield-Hallowell Union Library and 52 toys have been purchased and are available during normal library hours during Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Librarian, Marian Sly says while the toys may be borrowed during these hours, the children cannot try them out while other people are using the library. On Wednesdays, however, the children are free to look over the selection, try them out, and decide which toy they would like to borrow. The hours are from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

'We suggest the children borrow the toy of their choice for a period not exceeding two weeks,' explained Mrs. Sly, emphasizing that beyond that period a child could become attached to a particular toy.

Sheila Gribble says toy libraries are 'the coming thing'. The nearest such library is in Peterborough and there are several in Ottawa and Toronto. Much of their information on toy libraries was obtained from Woodstock.

'We benefitted a great deal from the experience of other toy libraries. For instance, we do not have emotional type toys available which children could become attached to,' giving teddy bears as an example.

Marian Sly says a catalogue listing all the toys at the library is available so if a particular toy is not present, it may be reserved.

'Everyone has been just great!' exclaims Mrs. Sly. She referred to a toy storage cupboard built and donated by Ira Sharpe of Picton. Karolina Bulgajewski, Ida Bartle, Madeline Fox, Grace Parr, Bessie Miller and Florence Burns from the H.J. McFarland Home for the Aged made 60 cloth bags which are used by the children for carrying the toys.

Many of the high quality toys are Fisher-Price and while many parents would be reluctant to purchase an expensive toy for a child who may grow tired of it in a matter of days (one train set cost over $40.00), the library gives children between the ages of six months and seven years an opportunity to play with a toy which they might otherwise never see.

'The library is convenient for grandparents too,' added Mrs. Sly, 'in that they can borrow a toy for visiting grandchildren rather than having to buy one.'

Those toys with additional pieces (some have up to 40) have their removable parts coded to lessen the chance of pieces becoming lost or misplaced.

'Other libraries have found that the parents have been remarkable in ensuring the toys are well taken care of and clean before returning,' says Mrs. Gribble.

The costs of membership is two dollars and is open to all Prince Edward County residents.

Problem pipes

swabbed before the new water system was turned on, some of the corrosion was washed off and the pipes are rusting again.

'The west end of town is the only major area with this problem,' Mr. Milligan said.

Streets and roads committee chairman B. Johnston is particularly interested in this as schedules have already been drawn up for road construction work and there is no point in repaving a road if it has to be dug up again to replace water pipes.

This view of the Deseronto waterfront appeared on an old postcard from 1916 which was brought into the Scanner office by Ray Brant. It shows how busy the waterfront was at that time. Below is a present-day description of the shoreline sent to us by Tom Thompson of Deseronto

Unchanging Quinte shore

BY TOM THOMPSON

The icy quinte water slaps the shore leisurely, not disturbing the midnight silence. Above the black universe is alive with flickering stars. The full moon, like a spotlight, spreads a shining beam over the rolling bay surface. Small fish thrash occasionally like a bathing child. Large fish, lurking in the depths leap to devour the small fish, and in turn are swallowed by the dark Quinte.

In the distance black buoys, marking the shipping channel, alternately flash their green beacons: The Skyway Bridge arcs gently in the western horizon. To the south a tree covered hill appears to be the last great wall, while in the east giant towers now stand strongly above the trees. Forester's and Unger's Islands lie at either end of the bay, opposite to each other in many ways. On the north shore is Deseronto with its numerous faces, yet to the Quinte it has no disguises.

The Mohawk Bay shoreline is decorated with brick and glass from buildings and industries long forgotten. Paddlewheels no longer steam in and out of the bay. Logs that once gathered in the bay can still be found in houses, barns and other products which once were easily found.

The Bay of Quinte is like a museum and will remain unchanged to us, but gradually it will only remember our presence and never again feel it.

Quinte News Round Up

PATRIOTIC THIEF???

One of the articles stolen during a rash of break-ins throughout Prince Edward County over the long Easter weekend was a Canadian flag.

Wonder what the thief intends to do with the flag...hang it over his or her door to prove what a good citizen he or she is?

EVALUATIONS AND SALARIES

Hay Consultants have agreed to come up with job descriptions, job evaluations and salary recommendations by July for 45 mid to senior management positions with the Hastings County Board of Education. The positions range from Director of Education to graphic artist / photographer.

Salary adjustments for these positions were in order for September of 1979 and January 1980.

Let's hope that, in making their recommendations, the consultants keep in mind the soaring costs of education and the possibility that some of the positions might...just might...be expendable.

MATHEMATICAL WHIZ

Rob Bez aire, 14, of Napanee, placed 40th in the Eighteenth Annual Junior Mathematics Contest sponsored by the University of Waterloo and the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada.

Now, 40th may not sound that good...until you consider that there were 26,142 entries, and that makes 40th a pretty high spot.

Rob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bezaire of Daly Crescent.

HOLD TAX LINE

The 1980 budget adopted by Napanee Town council shows no increase in the mill rate for the third year in a row.

'The way times are now, we don't want to slap a big tax increase on Napanee residents,' Reeve Ernie Marshall, chairman of the finance committee, was quoted as saying.

That's good news for Napanee.

NEW MINISTER

Rev. William John Service will replace Rev. Floyd Barnes who has held the Quinte pastoral charge of the Deseronto and Melrose United Church here for the past four years.

The new minister has a degree in chemical technology from the Western Ontario Institute of Technology in Windsor and a Bachelor of Arts degree in English and Sociology from Nipissing College in North Bay. He graduated from Emmanuel College in Toronto as an ordained minister.

He has been working in Alberta. His new appointment is effective July 1.

TOP DAIRYMEN

Gaynor Rendell of Deseronto captured the Highest Breed Class Average for a herd under 40 cows for the years 1978 and 1979 at the Lennox and Addington Dairy Herd Improvement Association annual dinner.

David Wemp was the big winner with awards for the Highest Breed Class Average for a herd over 40 cows for 1979 and the Most Improved Herd for 1978 and 1979.

Highest BCA for 1978 was George Harker of Napanee.

DRAW WINNERS

Winners of the Deseronto Lions Easter draw were Ron Cordukes, Luetta Waring, Don B. Pringle, Brenda Roebuck and John D. Brant.

WEAVING AT GLANMORE

For the past year, the Hastings County Museum at 257 Bridge Street East in Belleville, has been host to the Belleville Weavers Guild. The 100-inch loom on loan to them through a grant from Wintario Lottery has been kept busy with ardent weavers plying their craft each day.

The result of their many hours of work will be on display in the B breakfast Room of the Museum during the month of April.

A sale of handwoven articles will be held on Saturday, April 19 and on Sunday April 20 at the Museum during regular opening hours 1:00 to 4:30 p.m.

Everyone is invited to come and see this loom in action before it leaves Belleville at the end of April.

ONTARIO TREASURER TO SPEAK IN BLOOMFIELD

James Taylor, MPP for Prince Edward/Lennox, reports that the Honourable Frank Miller, Treasurer of Ontario and Minister of Economics, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Prince Edward/Lennox Progressive Conservative Association on May 7, at 8 p.m. at the Educentre in Bloomfield.

The timing of this visit is fortunate as Mr. Miller will be presenting the Ontario budget for the fiscal year 1980-81 to the Ontario Legislature on the evening of April 22. He has agreed to discuss his budget.

HOW'S YOUR MOUTH-KEEPING???

This is Dental Health Week in Ontario and 'How's Your Mouthkeeping' is the theme for the week.

In Hastings and Prince Edward Counties, the Health Unit Dental Services are having a poster contest. As well, some schools will be staging the dental drama 'Revolt of the Foolish Molar'.

The dental services staff will be visited by Murphy the Molar and his helper who will also visit nursery schools and day care centres.

Of his brother, Oscar Wilde once said, "Oh, he occasional-ly takes an alcohol holiday."

CAN YOUR CHILD READ THIS STORY WITHOUT ERRORS IN 30 SECONDS?

The Con Man

Al was a con man. He robbed red robes from homes. Then he conned cones from cops. When he saw a fat tramp, he said, "I will con that tramp." The fat tramp was going to his home to get his red robe. Al hopped the gate and came to the fat tramp. "Do you want a red robe, fat man?" Al asked. The fat tramp saw his robe. "I will take that robe if it fits me." He put the robe on and went into his home. "You have just been conned, con man," said the tramp.

FARM EMERGENCY MEASURES PROGRAM

Dear Editor:

The present realities of the Canadian economy have, within recent months, placed thousands of farmers under severe economic threat.

As victims of the two-edged sword of inflation and federal fiscal policies to combat inflation, farmers are caught in an unparalleled squeeze of sharply rising double-digit farm costs of production and declining market prices for many farm products.

This situation has now made it impossible for many farmers to realistically retire existing farm debts on the basis of their farm income earning potential in 1980. To aggravate this situation further, bank operating credit is being denied to many, placing in serious doubt their ability to continue production and, in some cases, to retain their farms.

Against this background of acute economic instability affecting a broad spectrum of the farm community in Canada, the National Farmers Union calls upon the federal and provincial governments to immediately take appropriate actions to implement a Farm Emergency Measures Program to achieve as its objectives the following:

A) Prescribe a moratorium on all farm debts currently existing or portions thereof that threaten the continued security of farmers' tenure, ownership, rights of occupancy and/or production thereon.

B) That the federal and/or provincial governments provide credit guarantees to needy farmers for 1980 farm operating costs.

C) The federal and provincial governments immediately initiate actions to place under national orderly marketing programs all farm products now subject to speculative and open marketing systems of pricing that are incapable of guaranteeing returns based on farm costs of production and reasonable income to labour and investment.

D) The federal government must immediately initiate the necessary measures to manage the economic affairs of the nation with a view toward lowering interest rates which, at current high levels, are exploitive and a major threat to the survival of our economic system.

E) The federal and provincial government must immediately, as a measure to assure the continuation of family farms in Canada, control the growth and development of industrial corporate farming including those industrial corporations engaged in direct production of food, through contract production and/or marketing or through total vertical integration within the food system.

PORT HOPE DISASTER FUND

Dear Editor:

The people of Port Hope suffered irreversible losses when the Ganaraska River ran wild through our town on March 21. The town has been declared a disaster area.

The monetary loss to private individuals and small businesses has been estimated at over $5 million. Flood insurance was unavailable because our 19th century downtown core was built on a flood plain.

The Quinte Communications Club of Picton held a CB coffee break on Sunday at the Fireside Inn. Here, QCC president Harvey Boomhower, member Ron Holmes and Harold Boomhower exchange QSL cards with other citizen band operators.

IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORIAM

Clayton Roy Brant
July 17 1916 - April 11 1979

In Loving memory of a very Dear Father, Clayton Roy who passed away April 11, 1979 one year ago.

Today recalls sad memories Of a dear Father gone to rest And the ones who loved him best Peaceful be thy rest, dear Father, It is sweet to breathe thy name, In life we loved you dearly, In death we do the same.

Always remembered by daughter Jane and son-in-law Don Nugent.

IN MEMORIAM

Roy Brant

In Loving Memory of a dear Father, Grandfather and Great-Grandfather, Roy Brant, who passed away on April 11, 1979.

This month comes back with sad regret.

It brings back a day we shall never forget.

We miss you more than anyone knows, As each day passes the emptiness grows. The tears we shed we can wipe away.

But the ache in our hearts will always stay.

Sadly missed but lovingly remembered by daughter Mildred, son-in-law Reg, grand children and great grandchildren.

Waste Disposal Site: At Monday night's meeting of Deseronto Council, a letter from the Ministry of the Environment, advising that the Certificate of Approval to operate the waste disposal site in Richmond Township will not be re-issued because 'the site has been inactive since 1976 — and is so located that should it be re-opened screening of the site would become a problem along both County Road 10 and the Slash Road.'

'They claim its in the best interests of the environment and yet they have always renewed it before,' commented Councillor R. Cole.

Council decided to file the letter after one councillor commented 'if we weren't at a council meeting we could tell the Ministry where to file it.'

Richmond Township has proposed a by-law which would rezone Deseronto's waste disposal site from Extractive Industrial to rural and to recognize the use of the land as a legal non-conforming use.

On the advice of legal counsel, Deseronto council decided to request Richmond to make an amendment to the proposed by-law.

Land Severance: Council agreed to grant its approval for a land severance concerning the Brooks Department Store and the IDA drug store.

At one time, the two properties were owned separately. Now both are owned by Keith and Vera Brooks.

The severed property would be conveyed to Keith Brooks.

The question was raised that there is only one sewer lateral for the two properties, but this would be a problem for the owners to look after.

Canada Week: A letter was received from the chairman of the Council for Canadian Unity requesting municipalities to establish a 'Canada Week' committee to provide activities during Canada Week, June 25 to July 1.

Council decided to make this public and see if any people in town has suggestions about what might be done.

Lights on Highway 2: The PUC presented a recommendation that the 20 remaining lights on Highway 2 be upgraded in 1980 with 400 watt mercury vapour lights.

'Lights were supposed to be put in three at a time, four or five years ago and Mert wants to know why it wasn't done,' said

Councillor Lena (Mrs. Mert) Cummings. 'He was with the PUC at the time.'

'It's town council who pays for these and decides,' said Mayor John Neal. The lights on Main Street were changed two years ago and this year the highway is underway.

The request was turned over to the finance committee.

Cemetery: A request from the Deseronto Cemetery Board, for assistance in carrying out some work at the cemetery was turned over to the streets and parks committee.

By-law: A by-law was passed authorizing the execution and completion of a quit claim deed regarding the land known as Part of Block T, south side of Main Street.

Girl Guides: Permission was given for a blitz of the town on Saturday, May 3, as Girl Guide Cookie Day.

Cancer Society: Permission was given to the Cancer Society to canvass for funds during the month of April.

Salary Negotiations: Most committees have met with their employees for discussions concerning salaries and fringe benefits, but no by-law has yet been passed this year setting out wage scales etc.

Councillor R. Cole reported at Monday night's meeting that some sort of dental plan is likely to be part of the package. No details are available as the Town Clerk, C. Milligan is checking into various plans.

A new method for sick leave will be offered and the maximum increase has been set at 8%.

MUSHROOM AND RICE HEALTH SALAD

Mushrooms give a fascinating meaty quality to any dish they're in. This is especially true when they're used in salads.

During the past decade, this elegant vegetable has been discovered by more and more salad makers. And, amazingly, they literally go with anything you might use in a salad.

Here they form a novel combination with nutty-textured brown rice, nutritious alfalfa sprouts and diced tomato.

But remember, when you're preparing the salad, don't soak fresh mushrooms. Just give them a quick rinse in cool water and blot dry on paper towels.

1/2 pound fresh mushrooms
2 and 3/4 cups cooked brown rice (1 1/2 cup raw)
1 cup diced tomato
1 cup alfalfa or bean sprouts
3/4 cup prepared Italian salad dressing

Rinse, pat dry and slice mushrooms (makes about 2 and 3/4 cups). Place in a medium bowl with rice, tomato and sprouts.

Add salad dressing; toss gently. Cover and refrigerate at least 1 hour.

Yield: 4 to 6 portions (5 cups).

ANTIPASTO MYSTERY SALAD

For a real conversation piece, try serving this Antipasto Mystery Salad as a first course.

Mixed salad greens, encircled with radish slices, tomato wedges, Swiss cheese and prosciutto stand up as a molded salad without any gelatin or dressing to bind it.

Good Seasons Thick'n Cream bleu cheese salad dressing mix prepared with mayonnaise and vinegar is spread over the top of this salad spectacular and lends just the right touch to this authentic Italian recipe.

1/2 pound thinly sliced boiled ham or prosciutto, cut in 2-inch strips
1/4 pound thinly sliced Swiss cheese, cut in 2-inch strips
2 medium tomatoes, cut in wedges
1 cup thinly sliced radishes
3 cups shredded salad greens
Creamy Bleu Cheese Salad Dressing

Line a 1 and 1/2 quart casserole or saucenpan with strips wax paper.

Arrange about half of the ham and cheese in bowl; then, cover remaining.

Tomato wedges in half, radishes, cheese tomatoes, radishes and salad greens in lined dish.

Cover with a damp towel, and chill for one hour.

Invert on serving platter and top with some of the salad dressing. Serve with remaining dressing OR spread dressing over top and sides of salad. Garnish with hard-cooked egg wedges, ripe olives and watercress, if desired.

Makes 6 servings.

Good sources of vitamin E include wheat germ oil, green leafy vegetables, legumes, nuts, eggs and meat.

Lucky winner of a 16 inch Pioneer chain saw was Don Johnstone of Deseronto. He won the saw in a free draw at the Canadian National Sportsman Show in Toronto. Don is shown receiving his saw from Ross Jeffrey of Jeffrey's Farm Equipment, a local Pioneer dealer near Napanee.

Deseronto girls' hockey team takes part in Dominion tournament

For the past three years the Deseronto Girls' Hockey Team have been trying to get into the world's largest Hockey Tournament for girls. This year the girls were invited to the 13th Annual Dominion Ladies Hockey Tournament, and accepted the invitation with open arms.

The tournament is held annually on Easter Weekend at the Meadowdale Four Rinks Arena Complex in Mississauga, Ontario.

1ST GAME

The girls' first game was on Friday at 4:00 on rink 'C' against Burlington. The local girls were a bit on the nervous side and never started to play like they really could and by that time they were behind 4-0. In the third period they got the bugs out and scored two goals but it wasn't enough to beat Burlington who went on to win the 'A' championship in 'D' division. Deseronto's first goal was an individual effort by Norma Brant whose shot from just over the blue line found the net. Val Brant scored the girls' other goal on a breakaway pass from Patti Ann Farrell.

2ND GAME

The girls' second game was on Saturday at 6:15 on rink 'D' against Englehart. The girls showed what they were made of in this game as they scored a convincing 4-1 win. That was good enough to get them into the 'B' championship game for 'D' division. Englehart opened the scoring early in the game but with the superb goaltending of Bonnie Williams the girls scored four goals, including an empty net one. The girls' goals were scored by Patti Ann Farrell with 2, Val Brant and Ann Whalen each with one. Ann also picked up two assists for a three point game, and now it was on to the championship game.

'B' CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

The 'B' Championship in 'D' Division was held on Sunday at 1:15 in rink 'B' against Brighton. The first two periods were a goaltending duo with both goalies making some excellent saves. Early in the third period the girls got on the board on a goal by Patti Ann Farrell after she tipped in a Charlotte Kemp slapshot from the point. The goal proved to be just enough to win and it was now all up to Bonnie Williams to keep the girls in the lead. Bonnie played standup goaltending, like she had all year, and stoned the Brighton shooters, including a breakaway in the final minutes to help her team to a 1-0 win and a well earned shutout for herself. Bonnie's average throughout the tournament was a very impressive 1.66 goals against.

TEAM SAYS 'THANKS COACH'

The members of the Deseronto Girls' Hockey Team would like to thank Tim Brant, our coach, for the time and effort he has spent with us, as well as for his skill and understanding. He was always there cheering us on when we were down.

We would also like to thank Denny Vick for getting up on Good Friday to sharpen our skates before the tournament. And if it had not been for Gerry Loney, who took the team when nobody else would, there would not even have been a team.

Thanks a lot

Good news for rural hydro users

Here's some good news for rural people at last...it looks as if rural electrical rates will be going down.

Premier William Davis has announced a commitment to reduce rural rates by bringing them more into line with those paid by urban residents of Ontario.

Mr. Davis said he has instructed Ontario Hydro to come up with new rate proposals, hopefully as early as this fall.

'It is quite obvious that under the new proposals, the lower rates will not recover all of the costs of the rural power system,' he said. 'However, the current inequity between urban and rural residents in the purchase of electrical power is going to become increasingly burdensome to our rural people and justifies the change in policy,' Davis said.

The rural power district serves an area of some 150,000 square miles where there are an average of 14 customers per mile of distribution line. In the municipal system there are more than 100 customers per mile.

'With the increasing trend toward urbanization, over the next few years, there will simply be fewer and fewer people in our more sparsely settled areas of Ontario sharing the rural cost burden,' Mr. Davis told the Legislature.

For example, in the last 10 years, some 80,000 customers who were formerly supplied with electricity directly by Ontario Hydro became customers of municipal utilities.

Agriculture and Food Minister Lorne C. Henderson said the Premier's announcement is: 'Good news to our rural community -- especially at this time with our rural residents undergoing such increasing costs because of inflation and high interest rates.'

'The differential in electrical power rates has been a real concern by our rural residents for a long time and I am pleased that the Government of Ontario is taking this important step in bringing about a more equitable situation,' said Mr. Henderson.

At the present time, Ontario Hydro's 'rural' retail system or rural power district serves more than 770,000 retail customers or 27 per cent of the electricity customers in the province. These are in addition to the more than 2 million retail customers served through the 324 retail municipal electric utilities which obtain their bulk power at cost from Ontario Hydro.

'The percentage of Ontario electrical consumers served by municipal utilities is increasing steadily. Government policy continues to be aimed in that direction. But the consequences of the comparatively higher rates for those not served by municipal utilities are obvious. Therefore, I have directed that ways be found not only to avoid this rate trend but to reverse it,' Davis said.

If you can provide new jobs for Ontario's youth, Ontario will help pay their salaries.

If you operate a business in Ontario and create new jobs between May 5 and October 26, 1980, you may apply to the Ontario Youth Employment Program for a grant of $1.25 an hour (up to a maximum of $50.00 a week) towards the wages of each eligible youth you hire for those jobs.

Here's how OYEP can help.

OYEP was designed both for you and young people who want to work. It enables you to hire young people between the ages of 15 and 24 to do extra work for you while we help to pay their salaries.

The maximum grant allows you up to 6,000 man hours of help at each location where application for each employment has been made. For example, you could hire 10 young people for 15 weeks each, or 15 young people for 10 weeks each. You must hire each young person for an average of 25 hours of supervised employment per week for at least six weeks.

Eligible employees.

You may be an eligible employer if you have been actively engaged in business in Ontario for at least one year prior to May 5, 1980. This is a requirement for each location where you would like to hire.

Eligible employees.

The young people you would like to hire must be between the ages of 15 and 24. They must reside and be eligible to work in Ontario. They must not be related to the employer as defined in the Ontario Youth Employment Act.

OYEP works for all of us.

All jobs must be new.

To be eligible for funding, a position created must be in addition to regular and seasonal employment normally provided during the 25 week program period. This may mean special projects in the office, general repairs, research and so on.

Apply early.

Grant funds are limited.

Deadline date for applications is July 2, 1980, or earlier if all funds have been allocated. Submit your application as soon as possible. Before you hire, make sure you have written approval.

Getting your lawn off to a good start in the spring will prevent many problems later in the season, says Bob Hamersma, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist.

Start your lawn maintenance program with a general yard cleanup. Rake the lawn lightly with a leaf rake or wooden rake to remove debris. Don't use a heavy steel rake because it will disturb the grass roots.

It's a good idea to avoid walking on the lawn while the ground is still wet. Unnecessary traffic can cause soil compaction which will reduce the amount of oxygen available to grass roots.

And don't rush to apply the fertilizer. To get the best mileage from your fertilizer dollar, wait until daytime temperatures reach 15 degrees C (50 degrees F) and the soil temperature is 6 degrees C (40 F).

'Applying fertilizer too early won't hurt the grass, but you may be washing your money away,' says Mr. Hamersma. 'The grass can't use the nitrogen until it starts to grow. If the fertilizer is applied too early, spring rains will wash it down into the soil before the grass has a chance to use it.'

Garden centres and other commercial outlets offer such a wide range of fertilizers that choosing the right one is often confusing to home gardeners. Basically, fertilizers fall into two categories -- fast-acting chemical fertilizers, and those with part of the nitrogen in a slow-release form, usually urea formaldehyde.

'Straight chemical fertilizers are the cheaper of the two, but they provide shorter term benefits,' says Mr. Hamersma. 'Their benefits are usually exhausted in three to four weeks. The slow-release fertilizers provide nitrogen to the lawn in two stages. Some of the nitrogen is available immediately, while the remainder is released over a six-to-eight-week period.'

He recommends applying fertilizers at a rate of 0.5 to 0.9 kg per 10 sq m (1 to 2 pounds per 100 sq. feet) in two separate applications. Apply fertilizer once lengthwise, and once across the lawn to prevent burning and to ensure complete coverage.

You can also reseed bare patches in lawns when the soil warms up. Scrape the soil with a heavy rake to level the surface and break the soil up into a seedbed with 2-cm (1-inch) lumps or clods. This type of seedbed will provide shade for the seeds. After seeding, rake lightly to ensure that the seeds are in contact with the soil, but it's not necessary to cover the seeds. Keep the soil moist to ensure germination.

These Quinte volunteers are willing to 'get involved'

By DON LINDSAY

This is Volunteer Week in the United States and Canada, and the Canadian National Institute for the Blind joins with other agencies in dedicating it to the recognition of the volunteers working behind the scenes for their cause.

Without the aid provided by these hard-working men and women, many of the visually impaired people in the area would not be able to enjoy some of the small advantages that come their way through the efforts of these public spirited people.

In an age where the 'Don't get involved' syndrome seems to be the order of the day, it restores one's faith in human nature to know that there are those who do care about their fellow man and are willing to put forth an effort to help those less fortunate than themselves.

The CNIB is pleased to have the opportunity to pay tribute to that small band of dedicated volunteers in the Deseronto area whose unflagging endeavours make the continued success of CNIB's program possible.

The accompanying photo montage depicts some of the activities carried out by volunteers in aid of the visually impaired.

a door-to-door canvass for funds for CNIB. Here Lions Jerry Loney of Deseronto and Paul Aman of the Northport Road accept a donation from Ernie Dorey of Main Street, Deseronto.

UPPER RIGHT: Volunteer Marion Trenholm of Deseronto reads to blind Ada Claus, also of Deseronto, who at the time was a

John Crawford, left, to Deseronto Quinte Oldtimers Club Social Convener Elsie Palmer and Club President Ruby Tucker. Standing next to John is his wife, Dorothy. The occasion was a visit to the Quinte Oldtimers Wednesday afternoon drop-in at the Lions Hall, arranged for John and Dorothy by CNIB volunteer Luella.

Manure - cars - sediment - add to lake pollution

Manure is back in the news again ... and the spreading of manure on frozen agricultural land during the winter is one of the specific instances where regulation will be required, according to the latest report from the International Joint Commission on 'Pollution in the Great Lakes Basin from Land Use Activities'.

Drainage from farms and urban areas is causing a more significant part of the pollution of the Great Lakes than generally recognized to date. The major substances concerned are a range of toxic and hazardous substances, sediment and phosphorus.

Phosphorus causes excessive growths of algae and results in degraded water quality. Agricultural crop land supplies the greatest amount of non-point phosphorus to the lakes and the amounts by which phosphorus should be reduced are contained in the Commission's conclusions.

Farmers are not the only pollutants by any means. Urban areas are the other major contributor of phosphorus, most dramatically in areas under construction where sediment run-off carries large quantities of phosphorus and other pollutants to the lakes or their tributaries.

Toxic and hazardous substances, especially industrial chemicals, are of at least equal and increasing concern. The Commission called for a prohibition of the production, sale, transport and use of persistent or highly toxic substances.

While some toxic materials tend to be declining in their presence in water and fish (persistent pesticides) or have control programs starting to take effect (mercury, PCB's) other problems are emerging.

The Commission expressed concern that lead, largely from vehicle exhausts carried through the air, is now found throughout the Great Lakes sediments and could present a similar problem to mercury.

The Commission is recommending an approach to the problems which includes closer co-ordination between and within governments. This is needed, the report points out, to overcome gaps and inconsistencies in the many government programs that affect the actions of the many individual firms, urban dwellers, cottagers and farmers contributing to the pollution. Some current policies (such as certain tax measures) may actually encourage such pollution. Continued on page 10

Sophiasburgh's zoning may get off ground at last

Here's a message for those people in Sophiasburgh who may have been wondering whatever happened to the land use by-law proposed back in June of 1977.

James Taylor, MPP for Prince Edward/Lennox and, himself, a resident of Sophiasburgh, has sent the Scanner announcement from Queen's Park that a grant of up to $11,475, requested by the township of Sophiasburgh, has been approved to assist the township complete a revision of its comprehensive zoning by-law.

'There were numerous objections to the original by-law submitted to the Ontario Municipal Board for its approval and these objections have been the subject of this extensive review,' Mr. Taylor said. The amount approved is 75% of the actual cost of the study, presently estimated to be $15,300.

Mr. Taylor is right! There were numerous objections to the original by-law and to the amendments later made to it prior to its submission to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval.

This was the sequence of events.

The restricted zoning by-law was passed by Sophiasburgh Township Council in June of 1977 and was then circulated to all property owners who were given until July 15 to state their objections.

There were 30 written objections before the deadline. A petition, taken up concerning the zoning of the old Edgewater Canning Factory, was presented too late to qualify.

Each property owner who had sent in a written objection by deadline date, received a letter of reply, stating Council's position on the particular objection.

An amended by-law was then drafted up but it was not circulated to all property owners. Those people who had made written objections to the original by-law were given copies and the opportunity to appear and be heard at an Ontario Municipal Board hearing held in Demorestville in the summer of 1977.

A point raised by some of the objectors at the hearing was that some of the amendments had very broad implications and the OMB presiding officer adjourned the hearing until the amendments to the by-law had been advertised and circulated to all property owners.

And that's where it stands now. Sophiasburgh will have the grant money to help complete the revision of the by-law and get the amendments circulated to everybody, this time.

Mr. Taylor also announced that a grant of $15,158.75, Continued on page 11

Well, I hear that the clocks are due to switch again next weekend. Ain't never been able to figure out why they do that, if'n they figger she should be light in the evening, why don't they leave the time be all year round, instead of switching her back in the winter time.

Reckon it bugs a lot of folks. I recall one old guy who read in the paper how he was supposed to put his clock forward at 2 in the morning or some such time. And since the notice were signed by the City Clerk he figgered he might better tell him that he done what he were supposed to. So he phoned him at 2 o'clock in the morning. He pretended to be real surprised when the clerk didn't want to hear.

Then there were the old feller lived down the road — in his nineties he were and couldn't stand the time changing. Called daylight saving time 'fools' time'. If'n you were to ask him the time during the summer months he were always an hour behind. No way would he give in, stubborn as a mule he were. He'd come a stomping in at one o'clock hollering for his dinner, when everybody else had finished an hour before. Just wouldn't accept that new time nohow. Out would come his great big railroad watch, and sure enough it always were set on regular time and that were proof enough for him.

Reckon the biggest nuisance for most folks is having to get up an hour ahead of time. And for dairy farmers the problem is telling the cows that the clocks have changed.

Reckon these here city fellers who decide these things should oughter figger out how to set the clock in a cow's udder ahead an hour, and then things would go a lot smoother out here in the boonies away from Ottawa.

EDITORIAL

ARE YOU GETTING WHAT YOU WANT OUT OF LIFE?

Are you getting what you really want out of life ... or are you going to reach your rocking chair days full of regrets about the things you've missed?

Of course, none of us can do exactly as we please. After all, most of us have to earn a living.

But too often, people get so involved in acquiring material things that they miss out on the things they really want

It's a good idea, now and then, to stand back and take a look at what you're doing ... where you're at ... and whether you really want to be there.

I had one of those self-evaluating moments over the past weekend

During the winter, I sometimes wonder what I am doing living in the country ... why I left a high-paying job in the big city and came back to rough-it in Prince Edward County where generations of my family cleared the land before me.

When the snow is blowing outside, and into all the nooks and crannies of my little cottage, I wonder if I'm really living the way I want to

But, last Sunday, trailing along in the spring-filled woods behind my lunny friend Freckles, I knew I had made the right choice

Freckles is the latest in a long list of spaniels I have loved

Almost every time I have gone outdoors for a walk, during the past 40 years, I've been trailing along behind a spaniel. Not the same one, of course

First, there was a brown and white one who shared my early-married days. Then there was a dear old black one who helped me cope with the loneliness when my husband died. And then there was golden Beauregard, a dapper gent who kept the whole family chasing after him for 16 years while he chased after girl friends.

But they were all city dogs, and our walks on sidewalk cement were taken at the end of my hectic day of subways, noisy offices and all the other city tensions. We had to be alert, on the one side, for thundering traffic, and, on the other, for house-proud neighbours who would yell if a dog paw happened to touch their precious grass.

Living as I do now, my dog and I can take our time and look and sniff at everything we pass in the woods. She's a little overweight, and so am I, so we suit each other as walking partners. And no one hassles us.

At times like that, I know I'm where I want to be, even if my home is a little 'unfinished' and the car in my driveway is a beat-up 'bug'.

How about you?

CB'ers increasing at terrifying rate

By TERRY SPRAGUE

Most people recognize a coffee break as something which occurs twice a day, generally at 10:00 in the morning and again at 3:00 in the afternoon. Usually, this daily ritual lasts no longer than 15 or 20 minutes.

But there is one group of people whose coffee breaks last upwards of six or seven hours. But that's okay since they don't have that many to enjoy; perhaps no more than a half dozen a year.

This group of caffeine sippers belong to a fraternity of citizen band radio operators, or C.B.ers; G.R.S. (general radio service) operators to the purists. To them a coffee break is a social gathering when C.B.ers from around the area have an opportunity to 'modulate' face to face, often for the first time.

To innocent passersby and the uninitiated, often he is a strange looking fellow, clad in unusual apparel, generally decked out with badges, crests and C.B. 'handles' he has acquired from other area clubs.

It appears to be English he is speaking, but is generously sprinkled with a bewildering jargon of the trade, continuously spewing out such cryptic terms as stepping on, walking over, 55B, S-meters, RF, QSL's, Megahertz and coax.

Coffee and other refreshments are served, draws are made, prizes are awarded, and often music may be provided and other area clubs of dealers may occupy a table to advertise what they have.

C.B. clubs are many and range from those with straight forward names like the Quinte Communications Club in Picton to the O.P.P. Club (Ontario Playboy-Playgirl) in Newburgh, not really as suggestive as the name implies, but a rather new club formed early last year and now boasting a membership in excess of 100 members.

While somewhat discriminatory, in that its membership is open only to married couples, it is a club which offers 12 months of dances, picnics, meetings and other events designed to appeal to the whole family.

They, too, have coffee breaks, but they are basically informal get-togethers over coffee, once a month, in the form of a business meeting when upcoming plans and events are discussed and finalized.

FORMED IN 1974

The Quinte Communications Club was formed in 1974, and it just sponsored a coffee break at Picton's Fireside Inn on April 13.

Another interesting event held by both the Picton and the Newburgh groups is a weekly 'net call', when members take turns monitoring a pre-elected channel, and extending an invitation to radio operators to register their call numbers (number assigned the operator by the Department of Communications), names and locations.

The purpose is to throw a 'net' over the area, giving C.B.ers a chance to see how far their radios are reaching and how well they are working. Also, it keeps club members in touch with each other and provides a means of announcing forthcoming events.

The Quinte Communications Club holds its net call every Thursday night from 10:00 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. on channel seven, while the OPP Club conducts its net call on the second Tuesday of each month on channel one from 9:00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m.

TERRIFYING INCREASE

How popular is C.B.ing today? If one can judge by the numbers being assigned the operators, its popularity is increasing at an almost terrifying rate.

Generally C.B. operators are assigned numbers by the Dept. of Communications chronologically, with every new applicant receiving the next higher number. Kingston issues the numbers in this area, which includes roughly Hastings, Prince Edward, Frontenac and Northumberland Counties.

If one may use this as a guide, then there are no less than some 19,000 radios, each with a mike and an eager voice ready to speak into it.

According to Stan Goodfellow, whose column 'Channel Chatter' appears in at least two area newspapers, people want a citizen band radio to keep in touch with one another, whether he is in his home, in his car or in a boat.

'It seems to be an old-fashioned way for modern communication and enjoyment.'

Well, mercy sakes good buddy, that transmission was 10-2 all the way, wall to wall and tree top tall. We'll catch you on the flip-flop. We're clear and on the side of this one.

HAPPENINGS

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Moore were her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McDonald of Oshawa.

The Presbyterian Ladies Aid and WMS met at the home of the president, Mrs. Nikki Loney, on April 8. Following devotions, further plans were made for the 'Nursery Rhyme Tea' to be held June 7. Minutes were read and roll call taken. Refreshments were served and a social enjoyed by all.

Quinte area C.B.ers Norm Kimberly of Selby and Howard Tompkins of Napanee chat over a cup of coffee at a club meeting in Newburgh.

THE QUESTIONS ARENA HIRING

Dear Editor:

Upon reading your article regarding the hiring of the new assistant manager for the arena, I have found quite a few remarks made by Mr. W. Higgins and Mr. Jack Layfield which I question.

Mr. Higgins says the committee spent a lot of time on these applications ... I don't consider one meeting to be a lot of time.

Mr. Layfield says he questioned every applicant. Well I applied for this position, and I did all the questioning. Not once did he question me about my qualifications or wage expected.

Also, upon asking some questions about town, I came up with some interesting comments. Mr. Layfield might shed some light on this, and come out to say whether this is true or false!

As far as most applicants wanting too much money, nowhere on the applications did I call for salary expected, as the ad read 'the salary was negotiable'. I repeat, I was never asked the salary expected.

Also, editor, you again referred to Mr. Layfield as the Recreation Director. This position has been so over-rated by Council and its committees that I, myself, hesitate to use the title.

For the four years he has had this position, what has he really done for recreation?

Nine years ago, we had a swimming program. We also had a ball field (but not today). We had some six teams playing in the EOBA.

Mr. Layfield may say 'Look at the great minor hockey we have now.' This is not his doing but the arena itself and the great Deseronto Minor Hockey Association that we have here.

I asked Mr. Layfield about a ball field and he told me 'There was approximately $30,000 that had to be spent, but it would be spent on the arena upgrading.'

This is understandable. He is only interested in the arena. Upon checking other communities of an approximate size, we pay more for the same services than most, and we have only one facility to offer.

Is Mr. Layfield supposed to spend 60% of his time on the area, and 40% of his time on recreation? If so, how can we be so far behind the times.

Mr. Layfield told me he has accumulated some 10 weeks of overtime this winter. To do this, he would need to work four hours per day overtime, based on a five-day week for approximately 40 weeks, with arena open 92 hours weekly, based on seven days a week.

Before this is 'approved', I would like to see proof. I don't consider coming and watching a hockey game as overtime.

Also who operates the pop cooler on community property. Was it ever tendered?

Upon enquiring, as to our community Centre and our recreation committee members, I find they are one and the same ... W. Higgins, L. Cummings, D. Martin and B. Johnson ... and only one of these has ever been in our arena more than 2-3 times.

Are they interested in its activities or anything related to sports in Deseronto?

To promote sports in a community we need people who are interested in sports, not people who couldn't care less.

That building at the end of Main Street is not just a symbol. We should be going ahead. If not, then we are paying a recreation director ... for nothing.

Even today we will be two years before we have summer sports that will amount to anything. Can we afford to wait another two years to even start?

Come fall we need people to run for council who will fight to get what we have needed for years ... yes, years ... constructive progress in our community and its elders and youngsters. Each and every one should be considered.

Del Wannamaker,

THE GREAT-TV-BATTLE

Do we watch hockey or soaps?

By EDNA WILKINSON

The season is here again when the male population comes into its own.

Hockey playoffs are in full swing, and the men now score against their female counterparts who, they claim, spend all their waking hours watching television, soap operas in particular.

Men can be actually brutal and sadistic when it comes to soap operas.

Poor Mildred of 'It Could Only Happen to Me', may have a terminal illness, her husband has walked out on her, her only son is in prison for a crime he didn't commit, and a husband can actually laugh!

The boss of our house once sneered contemptuously, 'Nobody, but nobody, could have that many problems. I never, in all my life, saw so many unhappy people together at one time!'

That remark didn't even deserve an answer, mostly because I couldn't think of one. I merely rose very haughtily to my feet, fixed him with an icy glare, and as I left the room, I said with great dignity, 'Estoy para salir'.

That's Spanish. I'm not sure what it means but it sounds impressive. I heard it once on a late movie, and it was very effective.

UFO IN THE KITCHEN

When men get engrossed in these hockey games you might just as well forget whatever you might have in mind.

You can stand in the middle of the living room and scream, 'There's a UFO in the kitchen' and your husband will, in all probability, answer with, 'He scores!'

When the action in the game slows down a little, the man of the house slows down too, and has been known to doze off.

At times like this, I try to quietly lower the volume on the set. The minute that my fingers come into contact with the controls, he springs to his feet with a cry like that of a wounded bull moose.

This reaction is definitely much more effective than Spanish.

I really stirred things up last night, though. I passed the word that all hockey is being cancelled for the entire weekend in order that television can present a very special program. For the first time ever, there will be a major presentation for ladies. They call it a soap opera telethon.

Wouldn't that be something? Already I can hear the sirens of the ambulances that would carry all the men away when they flipped their wigs.

The Con Man

Al was a con man. He robbed red robes from homes. Then he conned cones from cops. When he saw a fat tramp, he said, "I will con that tramp." The fat tramp was going to his home to get his red robe. Al hopped the gate and came to the fat tramp. "Do you want a red robe, fat man?" Al asked. The fat tramp saw his robe. "I will take that robe if it fits me." He put the robe on and went into his home. "You have just been conned, con man," said the tramp.

PARENTS

If your child has been taught to read, he should be able to read this story aloud in 30 seconds with no more than 2 errors. If the child makes 3 to 5 errors, practice is probably necessary. If your child makes more than 5 errors, he or she may need additional instruction. If your child cannot complete the passage in 30 seconds, help may be necessary. UNPAID TAXES

One of the recommendations of the finance committee of Picton Town Council was to increase the penalty for late tax payments to 1.25% per month, effective July 1.

Unpaid taxes in the town as of the end of March totalled over $128,000.

We doubt very much whether raising the tax penalty will solve the problem for all those property owners who can't afford to pay their taxes. Picton has been losing population as people move out to look for jobs elsewhere and those who do stay and are jobless haven't got the money to come up with their taxes.

GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

The success of the recent night school class on genealogy in the Edcentre, Bloomfield, indicated a great interest in this topic locally, and a number of people suggested that a society should be formed in the Bay of Quinte district.

Anyone interested can contact Gordon Crouse, Box 212, Bloomfield.

ANOTHER INSTANT

In previous issues we have mentioned that Tom Longboat, who married a girl from the Tyndinaga Reserve back in the early 1900's, had never received the prize of $500 from the City of Toronto for winning the Boston Marathon in 1907.

His son, Tom Longboat junior, has been trying to get Toronto to honour the debt and Toronto has finally given Tom, his brother and a sister $10,000.

As Dick Beddoes put it in his column in the Globe and Mail, 'Sentiment aside, City Council did not render the Longboat family too many favours at that. Compute $500 over 73 years, at 5% interest compounded annually, and you get $17,610. Could be Toronto still owes the Longboats $7,610.'

THE KENTE MISSION

The Kente Mission was established near the present village of Coneseon about 1668 for the Iroquois Indians near there and for the village lying north of that area, by the Sulpician Fathers. It had to be abandoned about 1680 due to the expense of the effort and other related factors.

The Mission was the topic of a talk given to the Lennox and Addington Historical Society last Saturday by Larry Turner, who is studying for a Master's Degree in History at Queen's and is also teaching there.

MORE GRANTS

The Napanee Recreation Department has been awarded a

Wintario grant of $3,041.34 to assist with the purchase of softball equipment. This grant represents 50% of the eligible costs of the 1980 softball season for teams operating in the league operated by the Recreation Department.

And, a Wintario grant of up to $4,512.73 has been approved to assist with the cost of renovating a building for the use of the 851 Squadron of the Royal Canadian Air Cadets. This is one of the projects undertaken by the Kinsmen Club of Picton.

DRAINAGE GUIDELINES

Agriculture and Food Minister Lorne C. Henderson has announced a number of changes to the drainage guidelines, effective April 1.

The new guidelines increased to $20,000 the amount of drainage loans any one farmer may have under this program in a fiscal year. The total amount which any one farmer may have outstanding at any one time has been increased to $60,000.

A new interest rate of 8% also came into effect April 1. It will be reviewed and adjusted from time to time as necessary.

STILL PLENTY OF HYDRO TO EXPORT!

We all knew March was a pretty cold month. Actually the average daily temperature was minus 2.13 degrees C., about 3.8 degrees below last year's March average.

And the lower than normal temperatures contributed to a seven percent increase in the amount of Hydro power used by Ontario consumers.

But, during the same month, Ontario Hydro was still able to export about 1.4 billion KW-h to the United States, up almost 290 million kilowatts over March 1979.

Ontario Hydro's mandate is to supply electricity for Ontario ... not to keep on building nuclear plants which will produce more than we need. So it was heartening to note that Hydro has announced further delays in construction of the Darlington nuclear generating station.

RURAL CHANGE

Energy conservation on the farm and vanishing agricultural land are two of the issues which will be discussed at a one-week course on the church and rural change at the University of Guelph, beginning May 5.

Clergy and lay leaders from rural areas can become better informed about the rapidly changing rural scene and will have an opportunity to discuss the moral and ethical implications of many issues such as resource use in food supply.

For information, contact the University of Guelph, Continuing Education Division, Room 103, Johnston Hall, Guelph.

SO, WHO NEEDS IT?

Ontario's Minister of Housing Claude Bennett has just released a new 'educational publication' ... A Guide to Residential Planning and Design in Small Communities, written as an aid for those who design, review or approve new urban development in small communities which often lack the expertise available in large urban centres.

The Minister emphasized that the guide is not mandatory.

What's the difference? Who is going to be building any new houses nowadays when no one has the money to keep up the high mortgage payments?

HOCKEY ROUND UP

Third title for Road Runners

After regular season play, rumour had it that Deseronto would not successfully defend their twice climed title in semi-final action. Natural Resources up 3 games to two, according to the stories, Deseronto was down and out.

Down, yes. Out! Tell that to a Road Runner! After the seventh game Marysville finally finds out why their opponents are in the final series. Natural Resources? Guess again!

Game number 1 in the final series saw Deseronto smother Marysville 9-5. Game number two was a good close game as Deseronto edged Marysville 4-3. Game number 3 saw Marysville down Deseronto 4-1. Game number 4 was to be the reverse of the third game as Deseronto topped Marysville 4-1, to set the stage for the fifth and final game.

Jason Morris scored three minutes into the game to give Deseronto an early lead, with Danny Brant and Carman Milligan assisting. Ten minutes into the game Brian Layfield picked up a loose puck at his own blue line and raced in on a breakaway and scored a nice goal on a beautiful diek to make it 2-0. Late in the first period Clare Kennelly scored from Dave Murphy to pull them within one.

The second period was only minutes old when Jason Morris slammed one in on a goal mouth scramble. Glen Trendel and Danny Brant drawing the assists. Danny Brant scored what was to be the deciding goal, as Dan was left all by himself when Del Wannamaker pulled two Marysville defencemen and goalie behind their net. Then he threaded a perfect pass through a maze of Marysville blue to Brant's stick. Carman Milligan picked up an errant Marysville pass at their blue line, walked around two blue players and sunk a nice wrist shot from the slot to make it 5 to 1, Deseronto.

Dave Murphy deflected a nice goal to make it 5-2 late in the second period. Brian Layfield scored his second of the match five minutes into the final frame, to make it 6-2. Gary Thompson and Denny Thompkins assisting. Clare Kennelly scored with only seconds remaining to finish off the scoring.

Final score: 6-3 Deseronto in five games, their easiest play-off series ever. They predicted Marysville in five, they predicted Natural Resources in five. They weren't supposed to win the cherished three-in-a-row — tell that to a Road Runner!

Despite the high degree of coordination and direction required from senior levels of government, the Committee recommends that considerable responsibility for the implementation of corrective programs should be given to the local level, along with technical and financial assistance.

The voluntary approach to remedial action in improving land use practices is stressed, whereby individuals would be encouraged to adopt better practices by vigorous public education, technical aid and financial incentive programs.

Where this approach would not achieve adequate results, or the pollution problem is critical, regulations ... such as those concerning spreading of manure on frozen agricultural land during winter ... will be needed, the Commission report says.

ROAST LEG OF PORK

When roasted with care to done, but not overdone, the leg of pork is one of the most succulent cuts.

The whole leg of pork weighs from 8 to 20 pounds. Because there is a small proportion of bone to lean, you can allow two to three servings per pound.

If a whole leg is too large, buy a shank end, butt end or centre cut to roast to perfection.

Fresh leg of pork, 10 to 16 pounds
Thyme
Pepper

Place fresh leg of pork, fat side up, on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Score fat and skin, if desired.

Rub with thyme and pepper.

Insert a meat thermometer into the centre of the thickest part of the roast, making sure the tip does not rest in fat or on bone.

Do not cover. Roast at 325 degrees F for 30 minutes per pound until the internal temperature reaches 170 degrees F. (There are no pink juices when you make a small cut into the meat.)

Brush several times with Golden Glaze during last 30 minutes of cooking time.

Allow the roast to rest 15 minutes before carving, to set juices and firm meat.

Golden Glaze:

1 tablespoon soy sauce
1/4 teaspoon ginger
2 teaspoons corn starch

Mix ingredients into a smooth paste. Brush on roast about 30 minutes before roast is done. Makes 1/2 cup of glaze.

For a variety of glaze use crabapple jelly, red currant jelly or seedless raspberry jam. Melt 2 to 3 tablespoons of jelly or jam with 2 teaspoons water.

PORK ROLL PROVENCE

Makes 6 servings.

3 pounds rolled boneless pork roast (loin, shoulder or leg)
2-3 cloves garlic, slivered
3/4 cup dry white wine
Juice of 1 lemon
1/4 cup olive oil
2 medium onions, chopped
1 bay leaf
1 tablespoon dried thyme
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/8 teaspoon mace

Make small slits in fat and flesh with a paring knife. Insert slivers of garlic in each slit.

Place roast in doubled plastic bags.

Stir together "wine," lemon juice, olive oil, onions, bay leaf and seasonings. Pour over meat, tie bags securely, place in dish and refrigerate 24 hours, turning occasionally.

Remove pork from marinade. Place fat side up on rack in shallow pan.

Insert meat thermometer in meat. Roast at 325 degrees F about 30 minutes per pound until thermometer registers 170 degrees F. Baste with marinade twice during roasting.

Let roast stand on platter while preparing sauce.

Add reserved marinade to roasting pan. Stir to loosen pan drippings. Cook 5 minutes to soften onions.

Donna Snider arranges some hobby kits on the shelves of the new A.S. & D. Hobby and Craft Shop in preparation for opening day, last Saturday.

Opening hobby and craft shop is new venture for the Sniders

Hobbies and crafts are a 'big thing' these days. Almost everyone is into something ... from macramé to model kits.

'We saw a need for a store where people in Deseronto area could find all the supplies they needed for their hobbies and crafts,' said Donna Snider, who, with her husband Allen, has just opened the A.S. & D. Hobbies and Crafts store at 307 Main St., Deseronto.

Mrs. Snider has never operated a store before, but she learned a lot about how a store runs when she was growing up in Toronto. Her mother had a variety store there. And, later, Donna was an order-filler for Lewiscraft.

'Before I ordered stock for this store,' she said, 'I checked around with people to see what they work with and what they would like to have available.'

'We have string art, Ming tree kits, beadloom kits, looms, needlepoint, macramé, plaster moulds, doll parts, the new shrink art, ... if you don't see what you want we can get it for you quickly ... usually about a week.'

The Sniders and their two children moved to Deseronto about a year ago, but Allen is no newcomer to the town. He spent the first 17 years of his life here.

requested by the Village of Wellington, has been approved to assist the village in resolving objections to its comprehensive zoning by-law before it is submitted to the OMB for approval. The grant represents 75% of the estimated total cost.

It is hoped that most of the objections to the Sophiasburgh and Wellington comprehensive zoning by-laws will be taken care of as a result of these studies and that the residents in the areas will be satisfied with the land uses in the amended by-law when they are submitted to the Ontario Municipal Board for any necessary public hearings before the board makes its final rulings,' Mr. Taylor said.

It's a pretty safe bet that those people in Sophiasburgh who were too late with their objections last time will read every line of the revised by-law with great interest and, if they don't like something in it, will make sure they get their bees in before the deadline is passed.

Social convener, Elsie Palmer, said from now on, one Wednesday will be cards and the next Bingo, at Drop-ins.

Further plans were made for the Mini-Bazaar on May 7. Members were appointed to the various tables. Everyone was asked to bring something for the grocery basket.

Deseronto Lions mark 35th anniversary

By DON LINDSAY

The Deseronto Lions Club celebrated its 35th anniversary Saturday night with a gala party in the form of a dinner dance. Lion Jack Murphy, in charge of the affair, deserves credit for a well planned and executed soiree, much enjoyed by everyone.

Listed among the distinguished guests were several Past Presidents and officers of the club, as well as guest speakers District Governor Sam Camileri of the Amherstview Club, Deputy District Governor John Thompson of the Trenton Club, and Zone Chairman Bob Frazierley of the Sharnbott Lake Lions Club.

After bidding the assemblage welcome, Lion President Vern Boomhour turned the proceedings over to Master of Ceremonies Lion Jack, who carried on with his usual aplomb and savoir-faire.

Grace was said by Lion Jerry Loney, the toast to the Queen was proposed by Lion Grant Kimmet, Past Presidents were introduced by Lion Jerry Lott, introduction of the head table guests was performed by Lion Jerry Lawlor, a toast to the ladies was offered by Lion Vice President Mac MacLean and responded to by Marilyn Cole.

The highlight of the evening was a comprehensive, in depth, and very interesting presentation of the Club's history by its senior statesman Lion Eric Gustafson, whose well prepared material and earnest, sincere delivery drew a standing ovation from an appreciative audience.

Planning, preparation and serving of the food was left in the capable hands of Lion Paul Aman and wife, Barbara, and to say that they did a bang-up job would be a gross understatement.

They came up with a masterpiece of culinary art in the birthday cake, the cutting of which by Mrs. Joe Reynolds provided a fitting climax to the dinner portion of the evening.

The Lions also took advantage of this opportunity to present a cheque for $100 to visiting Lion Dave Hansen, local representative for the Lion-sponsored Leader Dog School in Rochester, Michigan.

Mrs. Reynolds, wife of Deseronto Lions Club charter member Joe, cuts the cake commemorating the 35th anniversary of the club. Somewhat apprehensively, organizer and MC of the affair, Lion Vice President Jack Murphy, keeps a watchful eye on the proceedings. The anniversary dinner dance took place at the Lions Hall, April 19th. (Phot Photo by Don Lindsay)

HEY DON'T TOUCH THAT CAKE! This cake, shaped like a castle, was one of the exhibits at Monday night's Open House at Deseronto Elementary School when students from the night school classes displayed the things they had learned to make. David Leafe is warning Paddy MacAllister to keep his hands off.

Three plans okayed for cable under Long Reach

At long last! Some news about Ontario Hydro's 230 kilovolt cable which is to go under the Long Reach from South Fredericksburgh to Prince Edward County.

For the past several years, there has been a great deal of local concern about the possible environmental hazards of disturbing sediment at the bottom of Long Reach.

But the Ontario Ministry of the Environment and Ontario Hydro have finally approved three alternatives as environmentally acceptable for submerging the cable.

'A tender will be going out fairly soon for an installer for the 230 kilovolt cable,' Norm Manning, Hydro's public relations officer in Belleville, told the Scanner on Monday. 'The tender will be to produce and install the cable and the contractor will pick which of the three alternative methods to be used.'

The permanent 230 kilovolt cable will be installed in the summer of 1982.

Meanwhile, a temporary 44 kilovolt submarine cable will be laid across the Long Reach this summer and is planned for completion by December of this year.

The submarine cable is part of a project which involves construction of a new double-circuit 230 kilovolt transmission line between Gretna Junction near Napanee and the new Picton Transformer Station to be located north of Picton. The new line will consist of approximately 21 kilometres of overhead transmission towers and about two kilometres of submarine cable spanning the Long Reach. The new line is part of an overall program to improve long term electrical power supply to Prince Edward County and surrounding area.

Early in May, crews will begin preparing temporary access routes to work sites, after which installation of tower foundations will begin.

Stringing of the overhead line is scheduled for the fall of this year.

Construction of the Picton Transformer Station is scheduled to begin next year.

'WOW...WHAT WAS THAT?' If you want to find out what the loud noise was that made little Amy Asseltine cover her ears, page 3 is the place to look.

Sick leave benefits pose problem

A lot of municipalities across Ontario are finding themselves in a financial bind because of sick leave fringe benefit plans for municipal employees.

Many of the benefit plans include the right for the employee to build up sick leave which has not been used and for which the employee is compensated in cash on termination of employment.

And some of the municipalities are trying to change the sick leave fringe benefits by going the route of sickness insurance, taking out policies which pay the employee for time off while he or she is sick, but which do not allow sick leave to pile up.

Deseronto is not yet in a financial bind over this fringe benefit but is beginning to feel concern about future developments and is looking for alternatives.

At present, under a by-law passed back in the mid 60's, town employees can let their unused sick leave accumulate and when they leave the job ... for any reason ... they are entitled to half their regular pay for the unused sick leave days up to a maximum of half a year's salary.

Negotiations with town employees (other than the police who have their own association) are now underway and the question of sick leave was raised at Monday night's meeting of town council.

The suggestion put forward by Councillor R. Cole and, finally, accepted by council after much discussion, was to offer to 'pay off' employees now for whatever sick leave benefits they have piled up under the terms of the existing by-law, and start a new system whereby an employee who stayed until

Grandfather first shoemaker in county

By TERRY SPRAGUE

According to an historiography of surnames, the name 'Brooks' appears to be locational in origin and is believed to mean 'dweller in a cottage on the banks of a small brook'.

Doras Brooks may not have dwelled in a cottage, but he did have a home and a business in Demorestville, and, ironically, not too far from the 'banks of a small brook'.

His grandson, Percy of Deseronto, says his grandfather was the only shoemaker at the time in Prince Edward County. Percy Brooks believes that his grandfather commenced his business sometime during the 1850's, operating it until about 1895. He died in 1909.

Percy says he cannot remember very much about his grandfather or his business, but is quite certain the old shoe he is examining in the accompanying photo is at least 100 years old. It was found in the wall of a Northport home recently when renovations were being made.

PEGS...NOT NAILS

'They didn't have nails in those days,' Percy explains, 'but used little wooden pegs in the soles.'

The shoe is a child's, somewhat soiled, compressed and well used, but otherwise quite intact.

Heavy work boots, Percy recalls, sold for $2 and were made of cowhide. Men's fine boots, made from the best of calf skin, sold for just under $2. Women's boots, also made from calf skin, sold for about $1.25. Children's boots cost anywhere from 65 cents to 80 cents a pair.

'Demorestville was considered the county town back in those days,' Percy remembers.

According to historical information, Demorestville once enjoyed a population of 1,700. Businesses included a grist mill, woolen mill, three taverns, linseed oil plant, dress makers, a resident doctor, blacksmith shops, saw mill, harness shop, lumberyard, tannery, general stores, two sporadic attempts at a newspaper and three churches.

And, of course, the shoemaker.

Unlike a cobbler, the shoemaker not only repaired shoes, but specialized in making shoes. While Percy's grandfather was the first shoemaker in Prince Edward County, it is uncertain how many shoemakers there had been in the county when shoemaking was at its peak.

SHOEMAKER'S ACCOUNT BOOK

Among artifacts donated last year to the Prince Edward County Museum by Ruth Metcalfe, wife of the late Willis Metcalfe, was a shoemaker's account book.

In it were detailed all the purchases of items necessary for the trade. Probably the accounts of a shoemaker who came along after Doras Brooks.

RICH IN HISTORY

The Brooks family is rich in history. In the early 1900's, Percy's father owned and operated a horse-powered ferry across Hay Bay, purchasing it in 1908 and selling it in 1921.

EDITORIAL

'You are a slave to words spoken, you are a master of those words not said.'

That quote was given by Bill Higgins, chairman of Deseronto's Recreation Committee at Monday night's meeting of town council.

Mr. Higgins was replying to a letter to the editor of the Scanner which criticized the hiring policies of the Recreation Committee, and some of the criticism was directed at Jack Layfield, Recreation Director.

'It is my personal opinion that any resident who asks a question, verbally or in writing, is entitled to an answer but the Recreation Director is out of town. Upon his return, a committee report will be made,' Mr. Higgins said.

Whether or not Mr. Higgins was right in his decision to not reply immediately to the questions raised in the letter, is not the purpose of this editorial.

But the quote was such a good one that we thought we would make use of it as a springboard for an editorial.

Too often we sound off quickly without really thinking about what we are saying and then we find ourselves in a trap of our own making.

We suddenly realize we've promised to do something we really don't want to do ... or our flare-up has caused bad feelings between friends we want to keep ... or in some other undesirable 'pickle'.

It's better to keep your cool, consider carefully just what you want to say and be sure you mean it when you finally say it.

Mr. Higgins has 'enslaved' himself to the extent that he intends to provide an answer to the questions asked, but he is still master of what he will finally say.

So he put's the smashed cans out to be taken away, and every week they're left at the end of the driveway. Then he phones the township again, to find out how to get his old cans took away, like they took the new ones. Seems he has to put 'em in plastic garbage bags first.

He won in the end though. There were one real bear up can that he'd been trying to get the gnome to take for weeks. Him and his missus cleaned up there yard, same as me and Elma just done, and she put all sorts of real heavy stuff in this old can at the end of the driveway. Garbage day, along come the fiendish gnome, leapt off'n the truck and grabbed the can ready to heave her up and smash her on the back of the truck, same as usual. Only difference were she must of weighed two hundred pounds.

My friend reckons the gnome must of got himself a backache and hernia to match his temper, on account of he ain't seen him on the route lately.

Some companions not welcome on woodland walks

By MARIE FOSTER

Some years ago now, when Mother and I were living in the old homestead in Solmesville, my friend spent the Winter and early Spring with us as a favour to me. During one of these stays, we made plans to walk back the cross road to the woods to enjoy the Robin chorus.

On this particular morning, we arose bright and early — I was taking special care since Mother and I shared a bedroom.

Meeting at the foot of the front stairs we made our way stealthily out the door, across the lawn to the road and away.

Not a soul in sight as we merrily walked along.

By chance, one of us glanced back. We had not been as successful as we had thought for, padding along a short distance behind with tail straight in the air like the mast on a tiny ship, came 'Snooks', the pet cat.

Since we feared the Robins would not appreciate her company, or ours either, probably, we turned, amused but disappointed, and made our way home.

Since then my friend and I have shared the pleasure, as well as much work and anxiety, of raising quite a few feathered friends.

To what do we owe the absence of the delightful Robin choruses morning and evening of years ago?

If, in any way, our song bird population could be increased, we could enjoy the music, while the insects scuttled for safety and worried about hard times.

It was the first loud blast of music from Concert Brass at Deseronto School last Friday that startled little Amy Asseltine into covering up her ears. But she soon uncovered them and listened with as much delight as the rest of the kids in the auditorium. The musicians in the band volunteered their time to go to local schools and introduce youngsters to the 'Magical Moods of Music' and to the various instruments that produce the musical sounds. Most of the musicians are local businessmen from Belleville, Picton, Trenton and Kingston. Some are retired and several are secondary school students. Last Friday they performed at Tyendinaga School and the Quinte Mohawk School, as well as at Deseronto. Their conductor is Jack Green, a retired Salvation Army Band master, their arranger is Larry Brown, and their manager is Charlie Kammer.

The Sophiasburgh Over '60' Club met at the Christian Education Centre in the form of a pot luck supper with 38 attending.

Mrs. Reg. Ruskin, president, called the meeting to order and opened with singing 'O Canada' and repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Guests attending were introduced and everyone welcomed them. There were three new members joining the club.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by Dorothy Robinson in the absence of Secretary Winnie Lindsay who was ill.

Treasurer's report was given by Marguerite Mitchell. It was decided for the May meeting to bring a collector's item and explain about it.

The June meeting being the 4th anniversary meeting, will be celebrated on June 6 with a pot luck supper, anniversary cake and entertainment by the Ross Adams group.

It was decided to make a donation to a local church.

It was announced the Zone 18th picnic at Trenton Memorial Gardens would be held on June 17, during Senior Citizen Week. Everyone will take their own lunch.

Each will be asked to bring an item for grocery box at the June meeting as tickets will be sold on the day of the picnic and draws will be made on items such as grocery boxes, etc.

The meeting was brought to a close when club member Allan Neff showed slides of beautiful and colourful flower gardens. He was moved a vote of thanks.

Next meeting to be held at CE Center, Demorestville, on Tuesday, May 6 at 7:30.

STUDENT READING CHECK

The Con Man

Al was a con man. He robbed red robes from homes. Then he conned cones from cops. When he saw a fat tramp, he said, "I will con that tramp." The fat tramp was going to his home to get his red robe. Al hopped the gate and came to the fat tramp. "Do you want a red robe, fat man?" Al asked. The fat tramp saw his robe. "I will take that robe if it fits me." He put the robe on and went into his home. "You have just been conned, con man," said the tramp.

PARENTS

If your child has been taught to read, he should be able to read this story aloud in 30 seconds with no more than 2 errors. If the child makes 3 to 5 errors, practice is probably necessary. If your child makes more than 5 errors, he or she may need additional instruction. If your child cannot complete the passage in 30 seconds, help may be necessary. If you think your child needs assistance to read better, call us.

LOCK UP THOSE BIKES!

Deseronto's Chief of Police, Norman Clark, has issued a warning to bike owners ... bicycle thieves are on the prowl.

'Put your bike away under cover when you're not using it,' he advises. 'If you have to leave it out in the open, put a lock on it.'

And he also reminded cyclists that it's time to get those bicycle licenses. They're only 50 cents and they help trace the bike if it does get stolen.

To date only 51 bikes have been registered this year. Last year 137 licenses were issued.

LOCAL LAYOFFS

It really wasn't any secret ... a lot of people in Prince Edward were aware that other people were being laid off at the Bata plant in Picton.

But now it's official. A strike at the Batawa plant of Bata shoes has resulted in a complete layoff of employees at the Picton plant.

LESS DRY TIME AT PARKS

Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources has increased the number of provincial park campgrounds operating under a temporary li quor ban to 20 from last year's 13 ... but the ban will only be in force from May 7 to June 1, a period of four weeks, compared with last year's seven.

Outlet Beach, Presqu'ile and the Sand banks are among the parks affected.

MP ON THE MOVE

Jack Ellis, MP, will be touring the riding in his mobile.

On Saturday, May 3, he will be in Marlbank from 9 to 10:30 a.m. on Main Street; in Lonsdale, 11 to 12:00 noon at the intersection; in Marysville from 12:30 to 1:30 at the intersection; in Shannonville from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. at Trinity Hall.

The following Friday, May 9, he will be in Deseronto from 7 to 9 p.m.

BAHA'I ASSEMBLY

On April 20, the Baha'is of Tyendinaga Reserve formed their second Local Spiritual Assembly. Elections, by secret ballot, took place at the home of Don and Lorrie Miller.

All Assemblies are composed of nine members (male or female). They must be at least 21 years of age and be in good standing as the affairs of the Community are in their hands. There is no clergy in the Baha'i Faith; thus the Assembly arranges for all meetings - spiritual and business.

One of the main functions is making certain that all Feasts and Holy Days throughout the year are celebrated. They prayerfully consider all applications for membership and appoint committees to plan Firesides, Study classes and Public Meetings.

LIBRARY NOTES

There is a new display of antique fans in the reference room showcase courtesy of Hastings County Museum. Some of the craftsmanship is beautiful.

New fiction includes Martin's bestseller 'Back Bay', Norah Lofts' 'Copsi Castle', Helen Van Slyke's 'A Necessary Woman', and Garfield's western novel 'Wild Times'.

Non-fiction additions are 'Joni' by Joni Eareckson and 'Life on Earth', a colourful book dealing with every aspect of living organisms.

For the juniors there are 'Two for Survival' by Arthur Roth and the fantasy 'Dragonsong' by Ann McCaffrey.

Non-fiction for children includes 'My Super Book of Trains' and 'The Web of Nature', a particularly good book to have by your side during spring walks.

If an employee left for any other reason, there would be no pay in lieu of sick leave.

'It's going to cost about $11,000 to get out of the system we now have,' said Councillor Cole. 'But there's $7,000 in reserve right now so all it would cost out of this year's budget is $4,000.'

A dangerous gap in our Maritime defence

By WAYNE COOPER

The last decade's Defence policy, or was it lack of policy, has forced Canada's military leaders into many shockingly desperate positions. One such dangerous situation has been hidden by the euphoria, surrounding one of our largest re-equipment programs; the long awaited arrival of the AUROORA long range patrol aircraft.

Undoubtedly the Aurora, operated and maintained by world respected crews from our Maritime Command, will eventually carry on the remarkable reputation held for years by the Canadian designed and built Argus. However, low Canadian Forces manpower levels and inadequate budgeting for operations and training will mean an almost complete loss of our maritime air patrol capability for several years.

The Canadian Forces will be forced to stop flying the Argus fleet upon delivery of the first Aurora in 1981. This means our shores will have no long range patrol force and hence a limited anti-submarine warfare capability until the aurora squadrons are operationally ready.

At the rate of one aircraft delivered per month, it will be more than two years before Canada's airmen even have enough aircraft to establish two or three squadrons.

Operating the Aurora will not be like jumping into a new four wheel drive truck and roaring off across the prairies.

The Aurora is a sophisticated and therefore complex aircraft which will require lengthy classroom training on the part of hundreds of aircrew and technicians.

After this phase, the personnel of Maritime Command will still need months of training on the job before they even begin to sharpen their skills on the new fighting system. This conversion time necessitates stopping the Argus operations because there just aren't enough people to do both jobs at the same time.

UNDEFENDED COASTS

The time from the last Argus patrol to the first Aurora flight, capable of finding and destroying an enemy submarine, will likely be several years. In the meantime, the coasts of Canada will be virtually undefended from the air.

Is it wise to drop our guard for such a long time?

If we can cease operations of this magnitude while we re-equip, is this role even necessary?

There is no doubt that the decision is folly and that the role is vital. The Russian submarines are a real threat and the world situation appears to be headed for a major crisis at about the same time that we will have had to lower our defences.

The oil and gas fields off the Maritime provinces are certain to develop into a national and perhaps even a global strategic resource. We cannot hope to defend them without either the Argus, or the Aurora on patrol.

It will take years to develop an operational submarine-killing capability with the Aurora. If we stop operating the Argus, the enemy will have a free ride into our oil fields and be able to deny us the life-supporting energy we will need to survive.

Canada has made a major strategic error by whittling away our defences until we cannot defend ourselves and build up our strength at the same time.

The enemy will not call 'time out' until we are ready.

Conference holds annual meeting

'Now is the time, was the theme of the 18th Annual meeting of Bay of Quinte Conference United Church Women. Two hundred and forty-five women were present at Kingsview United Church, Oshawa, April 8 and 9. Mrs. Redpath, president, and Mrs. Guthrie, program chairman, are to be congratulated for the splendid program.

Kingston, Lindsay, and Peterborough Presbyterians conducted the three truly inspiring worship services.

A panel from the Northern Pastoral Region, including Mrs. Joan Fraser, Mrs. Pat Thorne, Rev. H. Davies and Rev. H. Getz with Rev. G. Lavery as moderator, enlightened the group concerning what is being accomplished in that area.

Isolated small congregations are enjoying regular communion services, various workshops and guidance from the two ordained men.

Rev. G. Lavery, Conference Minister of Stewardship and Mission, who had attended a conference in the Caribbean, showed slides which, with his commentary, made all aware of the great gap between the haves and the have-nots in some of the islands. 'Now is the Time, Global Listening', was the title of his total presentation.

In the Bible Study, led by Susan Goodfellow of Women's Inter-Church council, several Scripture passages were discussed, in the whole group and in smaller groups.

The theme was Global Perspectives in Mission, Justice in the time of Isaiah was compared with justice as Jesus taught it.

Mrs. Helen Ruth, UCW representative to the National Division of Mission, outlined some of the projects in the heavy load that division carries. She also reminded the group that 1980 is the 200th anniversary of Sunday School.

Entertainment was provided by Mrs. K.W. Bolam, Bell Ringer, and the Ontario County Jr. Farmers' Choir. Both were enthusiastically received.

Rev. R. Boehmen, president of Bay of Quinte Conference, installed the officers then assisted Rev. J. Irwin with the communion service which brought the meeting to a close.

Mrs. A. Elson, the new present, thanked all who had helped, saying we had had fine meals and fellowship and had expressed our loyalty and devotion to Jesus Christ.

The 1981 Conference UCW will be held in Peterborough, April 4 and 5.

MAY

This is an in between time for bright stars. While a last glimpse of Auriga and Gemini of the familiar Winter Six is still possible low in the west in the early evening and the Northern Cross and other formations of summer can be previewed in the east in the predawn sky, the constellations that lie between are much less distinctive. Yet the spring sky has a subtle beauty and balmy evenings may tempt a beginner to learn more about it.

It is an excellent time to look for the Big Dipper for it is high above the northern horizon and the dipper shape is easy to recognize. During this season the bowl is tilted as if to pour over the horizon. The Little Dipper is more of a challenge. Unless you have good eyesight and are located far from bright lights only its three brightest stars can be seen. Polaris, the North Star, is the brightest of these. Binoculars will help to reveal the rather faint stars of Draco, the Dragon, twisting and turning about the Pole. Below these lie Cepheus and W-shaped Cassiopeia who, in ancient myths, represented the King and Queen of Ethiopia.

Before turning away from the north look again at the Big Dipper. Mizar, the star at the bend in the handle, is a Double Star—its faint companion is called Alcor. Ancient Arabs called these stars "the Horse and Rider" and Alcor was regarded as a test of good eyesight. Binoculars reveal that Mizar is really two stars. Alcor is also a Double but its components are much too faint to be seen without a large telescope.

High overhead in the spring Leo looks quite unusual this year for its two brightest stars, Regulus and Denebola are dim in comparison with the three bright planets in the area.

April Stargazing told how the curve in the handle of the Big Dipper points to two of the brightest stars of the season. Arcturus, an orange star in Bootes, the Herdsman, and blue-white Spica, in Virgo, the Virgin are in the south east at magline (about 9:30 p.m. D.S.T. in mid-May). While looking toward the east do not neglect the lovely little semicircle of stars known as Corona Borealis, the Northern Crown.

Hydra, the Sea Serpent, stretches across almost 100° of the southern horizon. Use binoculars here and to search toward the west for Cancer, the most inconspicuous of the Zodiacal constellations. Cancer boasts a coarse open cluster of stars known as the Praesepe, a word meaning "Manger". The cluster, also called the "Bee Hive", is outstanding in binoculars.

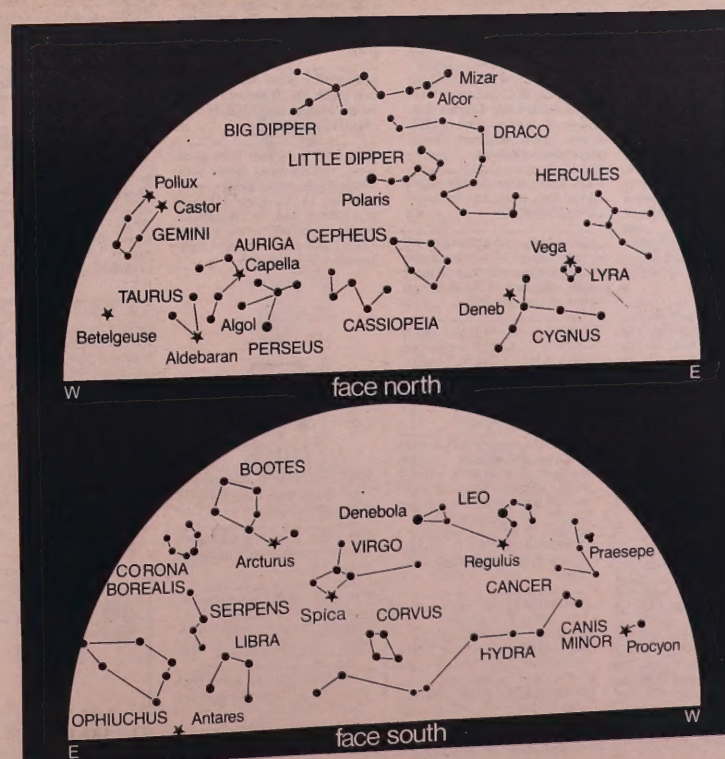

PLANETS: Venus reaches greatest brilliancy this month with a magnitude of -4.2 on the 8th. Displaying only half its disk it is in the west for three hours after sunset. Perhaps the most interesting planetary "show" this month is the close approach of Jupiter and Mars on the 4th when they are only 3.4° apart with Leo's brightest star, sparkling blue-white Regulus, nearby. This trio will be close to the first quarter moon on the evening of the 21st and 22nd—a lovely sight with or without optical aid. Saturn is high in the south at sunset. It is very close to the moon on the 23rd—an excellent chance to confirm its identification if you have been in doubt.

Percy has lived in Deseronto since 1923 and built the house in which he and his wife, Lola, reside at 122 Fourth Street.

'I've built on to the house since then. I guess we've been building on to it most of our lives.'

His wife, the former Lola Sharpe was born on Fourth st. and had lived on that street most of her life, and has never grown tired of it, she adds.

Percy's father used to work in the hop industry when he was a small boy, Percy recalls. 'If you worked all day picking hops, you could make 35 cents!'

The 87-year-old resident has an almost uncanny adeptness at remembering dates, not the least of which is May 1.

'That's our wedding anniversary. We will have been married 57 years on Thursday.'

Watch for Six Lawn Mowing Hazards

Just like old biplanes, rotating mower blades can accidentally start the engine. So disconnect the spark plug wire before you work on your mower.

Before you mow, clear away toys, garden tools, sticks, stones, and even dog bones. Keep safety shields and deflectors in good order.

Be sure children and pets are out of harm's way. And never leave your mower while it's running—even for a moment.

Keep a sharp eye for holes that may cause you to slip and fall. Fill in dangerous holes; plant a ground cover in ditches.

MAY MORNING

By RUTH WALLBRIDGE

We're living in a different world in May Now, day after day,
We move out of doors to see
The mighty power of growth
By sun and rain set free.

Along every roadway, now,
And in the distant scene
The misty pinks, above,
Below, the vivid green.

It seems we had half forgotten, until May -
All new to us each year the Robins sing
The Bobolinks how gay!
Now the streams warble as they flow!
Meadow Larks whistle on the wing!
Warblers, tiny yellow ones and gray,
With flash of colour, light up our day!
The Oriole, in the currant blossoms, trills 'Here, here!'
Surely the minds of men in council met today,
Will renew with hope the search for peace and growth
As Nature does in May!

Deseronto Council Briefs

County Levy: At Monday night's meeting of Deseronto Town Council, consideration was given to a suggestion from the County of Hastings for an agreement to have the county levy collected in four equal installments, instead of twice a year as they are collected now.

'I'm a little confused,' said Councillor A. Blayney. 'I thought the county didn't like the four payments for the Board of Education.'

Reeve B. Johnston, acting mayor in the absence of John Neal, told council, 'Since they had to adopt the four times from the Board of Education and live with it, County Council wants to know how the municipalities feel about four installments for county levy too.'

Local MP Ellis heads caucus

The Ontario Caucus of the Federal Progressive Conservative Party has once again elected Jack Ellis, MP for Prince Edward-Hastings as Chairman. The unanimous support for the local MP was given at a special meeting which preceded the National Caucus.

While the Ontario group had its numbers reduced to 38 in the Federal election of February it is nonetheless the largest single group in the National Caucus.

Ellis said that in addition to speaking out strongly on Ontario oriented subjects he intends to spend a major portion of his term working to rebuild the Federal party in Ontario. This will begin with a special caucus of all Ontario Constituencies late in June where all MP's and defeated candidates together with riding representation will be given an opportunity to begin the building process for the next federal election.

'This year we could have done it without borrowing,' said clerk treasurer Carman Milligan. 'If the county has to borrow and pay interest it gradually filters down to the municipalities.'

The matter was turned over to the Municipal Administration committee.

Auditor: 'I think we should be spared the pleasure of having an auditor down,' commented Deputy Reeve D. Martin during discussion of last year's accounts.

Boat Races: The Lions Club is changing the date of its boat races from the July 1 holiday to June 22, and is planning a street dance in front of the Lions Hall on June 21.

Mac Maclean appeared to ask council for permission to close off the street for the dance. Council had no objection but the road belongs to Hastings County.

'I think that, as long as we provide an alternative route, the county won't object,' Reeve Johnston said.

Heritage Building: Council agreed to designate the Deseronto United Church as a Heritage Building. A notice of intention will be published and then the Conservation Review Board will decide after hearing objections, if any.

By-laws: Three by-laws were passed, one to impose a penalty of one and a quarter per cent on late payments of taxes and tax arrears, and the other two concerning a two-year contract for garbage collection and waste site use with Fred Sutcliffe.

Building, Plumbing Inspector: Hastings County wants to know if the town has any intentions of availing itself of the county building and plumbing inspection service in the foreseeable future.

Council agreed to tell them no and file the letter.

CSPC Redevelopment Plan: The committee reported on a meeting with consultant R.G. McEwen at which it was decided that some 'hard services' would not be done and that the money would be used for reconstruction work on Thomas Street.

Faulty Metre? A coincidence was reported to council by the Public Utilities Commission ... it happened that when Metcalfe's was shut down, the water consumption in town went down too. This suggested that one of the metres was 'not functioning properly.'

Council is going to proceed with checking the metre.

A plant exchange was among the features at last Thursday's Prince Edward Horticultural Society meeting in Picton. The program also included speakers George Dollis of Wellington and Jan VanNoort of Glenora Gardens.
